EC AXES KAMAL NATH FROM LIST OF STAR CAMPAIGNERS

The poll body said on Friday it acted in view of the Congress leader's "repeated violation" of the Model Code of Conduct

ACTION OVER 'ITEM', 'MAFIA' COMMENTS

The EC order referred to Kamal Nath's recent misogynistic remarks against Scindia loyalist and BJP candidate Imarti Devi, calling her an "item". It also mentioned his use of adjectives like "mafia" and "milawat khor" (adulterator) against Madhya Pradesh CM Shivraj Chouhan as a violation of the model code. The EC found Nath's explanation unsatisfactory

NOW, SHOW SIMILAR RESOLVE IN BIHAR

- Elsewhere, there is complete mockery of the model code as Covid protocols like masks and personal distancing are being frowned upon in huge Bihar poll rallies despite EC whip
- Will the poll body show equal resolve as in the Nath case by taking impartial action against all violators? The nation is watching

US court orders Antrix to pay $1.2 bn to Devas

Case relates to termination of deal; ruling will have no impact as ISRO's commercial arm has no assets in US to attach: Official

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A US court has ordered Indian Space Research Organisation's (ISRO) commercial arm Antrix Corporation to shell out a compensation of a whopping $1.2 billion (₹8,952 crore) to Devas Multimedia, a Bengaluru-based firm, over cancellation of a 2005 deal in February 2011. The deal pertained to Antrix launching and operating two satellites to make 70 MHz of S-band spectrum available to Devas for providing communication services across India.

A senior Antrix official, on condition of anonymity, informed TNIE that with Antrix Corporation not having any assets in the US, this ruling will not have any impact. "There is nothing which the (US) court can attach. However, a decision in the Supreme Court of India will be binding," the official said. The Devas-Antrix case in this regard is still in the apex court which had earlier directed setting up of a tribunal.

Matter of jurisdiction

Two years ago, Antrix sought the dismissal of the suit citing jurisdiction as the agreement and its termination occurred in India. But Devas said the US court had jurisdiction as Antrix conducted business across the US

The US district judge, Western District of Washington, Seattle, on October 27, ordered Antrix Corporation to pay $562.5 million (₹4,196 crore) and related rate of interest to Devas Multimedia Corporation, totaling $1.2 billion. The ruling came after two years of hearing the case.

When contacted, Antrix CMD Rakesh Sashibhushan refused to offer any comment saying the matter was sub-judice. As per the Antrix Corporation-Devas Multimedia agreement in January 2005, the former agreed to build, launch and operate two satellites and make 70 MHz of S-band spectrum available to Devas, which was to offer hybrid satellite and terrestrial communication services throughout India.

On February 25, 2011, Antrix issued a termination notice to Devas, stating that it was the Union Government's policy decision in its sovereign capacity and was in the event of force majeure, which was issued on February 23, 2011.

Learning Kannada will just be a click away, anytime, and from anywhere

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

KANNADA gottilla? Fret not. You may soon be able to come back with a snappy retort to that question. With online education becoming the buzz word, the State Government plans to set up an e-learning portal for people wishing to learn the language. Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa is expected to inaugurate it on November 1, Kannada Rajyotsava day.

The initiative, in association with the Kannada Development Authority, is aimed at enabling non-Kannadigas residing in the state to pick up the language as well as help next generation Kannagidas living abroad to stay in touch with their roots.

This is probably the first time that the State Government is adopting technology to teach Kannada. Tech-savvy experts are working with litterateurs to digitalise Kannada words. Initially, the portal will help those interested to learn spoken Kannada, and gradually, reading and writing as well. In the long term, the government plans to teach even science subjects in Kannada through the portal.

Kannada Development Authority Chairman T S Nagabharana said the move will be the first such initiative undertaken by the government. "Many non-Kannadigas come to Karnataka to study and work. This portal will help them learn the language from anywhere. It will be user-friendly and free of cost," he said.

No show: Theatres in state to stay shut till Jan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mysuru

WITH movie producers unwilling to release films in theatres due to seating restrictions amid the pandemic, the Karnataka Film Exhibitors' Federation has decided to not reopen theatres across the state till January next.

For most new releases, over-the-top (OTT) platforms have become the preferred choice ever since the lockdown.

On the other hand, theatres had been gearing up for re-runs of old movies.

After a meeting of film exhibitors from the region, federation chairman R R Odugoudar told mediapersons that many producers have expressed their unwillingness to release big-ticket movies till January 2021 though the government had given its nod to reopen theatres with restrictions and by following standard operating procedures as per the Unlock 5.0 guidelines.

"Producers are saying that they won't release films till January 2021. In such circumstances, exhibitors have also decided to not open theatres till January as it will only bleed us," he said.

The exhibitors further said that over the last six months, they were facing severe challenges and most of their requests and demands placed before the government and producers were not fulfilled.

"The State Government has increased the licence renewal fee for cinema theatres by nearly 2,250%. As per the old structure, ₹1,000 was collected for every 100 sqmt for 3 years. But now, this has been increased to ₹4,500 per 100 sqmt per year," Odugoudar said.

K'taka behind other southern states on public affairs index

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka government may need to do a lot more to boost its economy and sustain growth, which has been badly hit by the Covid-19 pandemic. Though signs of recovery are visible, the state is still behind other southern states, as per the Public Affairs Index Report released on Friday.

The Public Affairs Centre's annual report on governance considers three broad parameters — equity, growth and sustainability — in two categories: large states (with population of more than two crore) and small states (with population less than two crore).

According to the report, Kerala topped the list in the category of large states with a PAI Index of 1.388, followed by Tamil Nadu and Andhra Pradesh. Karnataka was ranked fourth with PAI score of 0.468.

In the small states category, Goa topped the list with a PAI of 1.745, followed by Meghalaya, Himachal Pradesh and Sikkim.

Former ISRO chairman, Dr K Kasturirangan, who is also the PAC chairman, emphasised on the importance of a scientific approach to sustainable development while releasing the report, and said, "Real obstacles stand in the path of a fuller understanding of persistent inter-generational deprivation and loss of opportunity challenges that appear to reproduce themselves, especially in parts of some states. To begin with, the influence of a 'one size fits all' approach on our development outlook has been pervasive; and the overwhelming majority of interventions, including centrally-sponsored schemes, designed and implemented mechanically, sometimes unwittingly perhaps, run counter to the doctrine of objective pluralism. The evidence that PAI 2020 generates and the insights that it provides must compel us to reflect on the economic and social transition that is under way in India; and what its implications for future development praxis might be."

Aparna Shrinivas, who carried out research for the report, said states were assessed based on the data they share on public domain and what has been submitted to the Central Government. These areas include health, governance, children, malnutrition, women and child welfare, infrastructure, access to resources, gender equality in political and administrative participation and Niti Ayog report, she added.

Process begins to restore Rahul raj

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

WITH the chorus growing for former Congress president Rahul Gandhi to come back, the All India Congress Committee (AICC) will soon call a session to elect a new chief. All state units have been asked to send details of members who are eligible to vote.

"This is to inform you that AICC intends to convene its meeting as soon as possible, and you will be intimated as soon as dates and venue are finalised," said a note sent to state units by Congress' Central Election Authority headed by Madhusudan Mistry.

According to party sources, the session will be held by the end of the year or early next year. It will be a day-long affair, they added.

"Rahul is most likely to take over the reins of the party and his coming back has been planned ahead of the Assembly election in five states, including Kerala, Tamil Nadu and West Bengal, next year. He is already part of all key decisions made by the party and it will be just an official comeback for him," said a leader.

In August, Congress' interim president Sonia Gandhi had said a new president will be elected by February 2021. The move came after 23 senior party veterans, including Ghulam Nabi Azad, Anand Sharma, Kapil Sibal and Shashi Tharoor, wrote to her seeking organisational elections and a new leader.

While the letter questioned Rahul Gandhi's style of functioning, other leaders such as Punjab Chief Minister Capt Amarinder Singh, Rajasthan CM Ashok Gehlot, Chhattisgarh CM Bhupesh Bhagel, several state Congress chiefs and all Lok Sabha MPs belonging to the party had beseeched Rahul to take over the reins if Sonia wants to step down.

WATER TARIFF hike may not get nod

State government not to put additional burden on people already reeling under reduced income due to Covid pandemic

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

The proposal of the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) to automatically hike the tariff on Cauvery water supplied across the city whenever it is unable to meet its operational costs is unlikely to be approved. The state government is of the view that the public, already reeling under reduced income and financial losses due to the Covid-19 pandemic, should not be burdened further, said a senior government official.

On the proposal waiting for approval for long, the official said, "At least 50 per cent of Bengalureans are suffering from some form of economic stress at present. We think that this is not the right time for any additional burden." He said that the Centre has, in fact, recommended such utility tariff hikes, but the state wants to show some leniency to its citizens.

The Union Finance Ministry on May 17 wrote to all state governments to proactively undertake reforms to augment their revenues which had suffered a huge slump as a fallout of the pandemic. Revision of property tax in urban local bodies, in line with prevailing guidance values, as well as user charges for water, drainage and sanitary facilities were among steps it suggested. It also called for putting in place a system by states that will permit a periodic increase in property tax rates and user charges of utilities.

In line with this notification, BWSSB had requested the state government in June to allow it to hike the water tariff to meet its operational costs. Asked about it, a senior BWSSB official said, "We have submitted our request to the government. We are waiting for the green signal."

He added that it has been six years since the water tariff hiked. "Power bills are frequently revised. Whenever it is increased, our operational costs shoot up as we pump water to the city from a distance of over 90 km. Sewage Treatment Plants too consume a lot of power," he said.

Of the monthly revenues of Rs 100-110 crore, the board spends up to Rs 65 crore in paying the present power bills and arrears. "Apart from Bescom, Mysuru's Cescom too needs to be paid as water is pumped from Mandya district," the official said.

There is a revenue shortfall of nearly Rs 20 crore per month. "At least to sustain our operations, the water tariff needs to be increased. Even a 10 per cent hike will help us enormously. We want permission to hike our tariff on our own whenever our operational costs go up," he stressed.

NGT panel pulls up officials for fish deaths in Bellandur Lake

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE National Green Tribunal (NGT) expert committee on Friday pulled up officials after it found dead fish floating in sewage diversion channels connected to Bellandur Lake.

Committee members rushed to the spot to take stock of the situation following a complaint raised by the residents of Whitefield and surrounding areas about the stench emanating from the sewage diversion channel. They were shocked to find floating dead fish, garbage, filth and fish carcass entangled in the weeds towards Bellandur kodi side.

They pulled up the officials for failing in their duty and submitting false reports to the committee stating that all measures were in place to control the entry of garbage and waste into diversion channels. "If the metal barricades, as stated, had been in place, how did the dead fish enter into the channels? Directions were given to ensure that no garbage or waste enters and only water flows. This clearly means that proper orders have not been followed and that the officials have made false claims. This is not acceptable," the NGT committee members.

> Directions were given to ensure that no garbage or waste enters. This clearly means that proper orders have not been followed and that the officials have made false claims
> NGT panel

Officials from Bangalore Development Authority (BDA), Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP), Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) and Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) were present at the site as mute spectators.

The committee directed the officials to clear up the dead fish in one day. However, soon after the committee members left the site, the officials asked residents to tolerate the stench for a few more days saying that it was a long holiday weekend and there was no one on site to do the job.

This did not go down well with the residents. "It is absurd that the officials are asking us to deal with it for some more days. They are refusing to follow the NGT committee orders. They should spoken in front of them instead and faced further consequences. How can the government officials be so relaxed about it? They should live here to experience (the situation) and then make such statements," said the residents.

BBMP forms 31 teams to fill potholes

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has formed 31 teams to identify and fix potholes that have cropped up all over the city causing immense inconvenience to motorists and pedestrians.

BBMP Commissioner and Administrator made the announcement after holding a meeting with engineers and officials in the wake of the rising number of complaints about potholes on city roads.

It was also decided that tenders will be called zone-wise to fill the potholes and the contractors will make maximum use of the hot-mix plants in the city to repair the potholes instead of using tar.

A report on how much mix is required is being prepared and the defect liability period for the contractors will also be fixed to address the issue of resurfacing of potholes.

Commissioner N Manjunatha Prasad also said that 1300 km of roads, comprising main roads, arterial and sub-arterial roads will have to be addressed along with footpaths. Along with this, white topping and TenderSure works are also going on. He admitted that many roads have got damaged also because have been dug up for works undertaken by the BWSSB and Bescom, making commuting difficult for motorists.

'Portal will promote Kannada'

KANNADA Development Authority Chairman T S Nagabharana said that the portal will also help people living outside the state especially abroad, to remain rooted. "Parents who have moved away may not have the facilities to teach their children Kannada. But through this portal, anyone can learn the language," he said.

The initiative will further the work the Authority is already doing to promote the language abroad. The KDA holds weekend classes outside India in collaboration with local Kannada organisations, benefitting many second-generation people. Since the lockdown was announced in March, KDA has held five online workshops to train teachers who impart classes on weekends. "We have trained over 300 non-resident Kannadigas in 84 countries," Nagabharana said.

A couple of schools in the US will offer Kannada as a foreign language. "Children who attend weekend classes can continue learning Kannada in their school later," he said.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)

You're now spiralling along, heading for a fairly dramatic period, and you should keep your schedule as free as possible to allow for changing moods and circumstances. Also, if a friend is responsible for a catalogue of errors, don't be too hard on them. Step in and help instead.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)

Letting go is never easy. However, if you do what you know to be right in the long-term, even if this means going against current desires, you'll free yourself from a series of awkward dilemmas. You need to be able to stand aside and see your ambitions through critical eyes.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)

You'll probably beat full stretch emotionally. The immediate areas of concern involve your social life, children and money, in each of which you should work for the best while sensibly guarding against disappointment. And, if you're too busy, then heed the lessons - and be more discriminating in future.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)

This is a positive time and you'll soon be hitting a peak on a number of cycles. The key to success is to do everything with total and absolute concentration. If someone tries to distract you, ignore them! You can ask the experts but, then, in some senses you're an expert too.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)

This is certain to be a time of arguments and hassles. If it's not, you're missing out! The point is that if you are prepared to risk disagreements you'll clear the air and do yourself a power of good. Honesty can be uncomfortable, but that doesn't mean that it's not necessary.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)

You'll be on twenty-four hour call, clearing up partners' emotional, professional and personal crises. Don't worry if friends seem too critical - it's just their way. Besides, there might be some good common sense in their sharp words. Listen well.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)

The overall situation is still potentially profoundly chaotic, but even in the midst of disorder there is much to be thankful for. Plus, an older friend might come to the rescue before long. This simple fact is due to transform your life over the coming few months.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)

Estrangements, either by design or accident, are likely. But then, so are sudden and intense new meetings. In fact, anyone you meet now is likely to arouse extremely strong reactions, although whether of attraction or repulsion, only time will tell!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)

You may be thrown into fresh uncertainty. The question is how you deal with it. Right now you may be advised to put your fantasies into action, no matter how many times you've been told that you're not up to it. All you need is the right support from the best people.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)

You may have to face the world head-on today. You cannot make difficult people or situations go away by ignoring them, so you may as well get into the spirit of the times: fact is indeed a great deal stranger than fiction. But then, what's new?

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)

Secret developments may be brought into the open if you ask the right questions. It is doubtful whether you will ever build up a full picture of what is going on at the moment, but at least you can fit some pieces into the jigsaw. A little fancy foot-work should help.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)

Left to yourself you will have a fairly relaxed time but, if you're not a hermit, you'll be involved with other people. And, once that happens, you'll be sucked into their lives, with all their many dramatic ups and downs. If that prospect doesn't delight you, then stand back.

Expert team to study high-risk patient data

Information about 2 lakh Covid-19 patients to throw light on plasma therapy, medicines, ageing and fatality

RANJANI MADHAVAN @Bengaluru

KARNATAKA'S Critical Care Support Team, which treats and monitors high-risk Covid-19 patients, will study several months worth of data on such patients and publish the findings in a peer-reviewed journal.

"We have treated high-risk cases while simultaneously managing their comorbidities. We plan to publish a journal with studies on Covid including analysis of experiences from different districts of Karnataka and study data from various hospitals as well. Along with Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences, we will study the use of plasma therapy, the effect of medicines used to treat corona patients, etc," said Dr Trilok Chandra, head of the Critical Care Support Team.

The material would be one of the largest data sets with information of patients across the state being studied, said Dr Anoop Amarnath, member of the expert team and head of the scientific board at Manipal Hospitals.

The study involves data of 2-3 lakh patients - including those who died - that the team has gathered since its inception in mid-April, and is expected to throw light on various issues, bring out observations and anecdotal case studies.

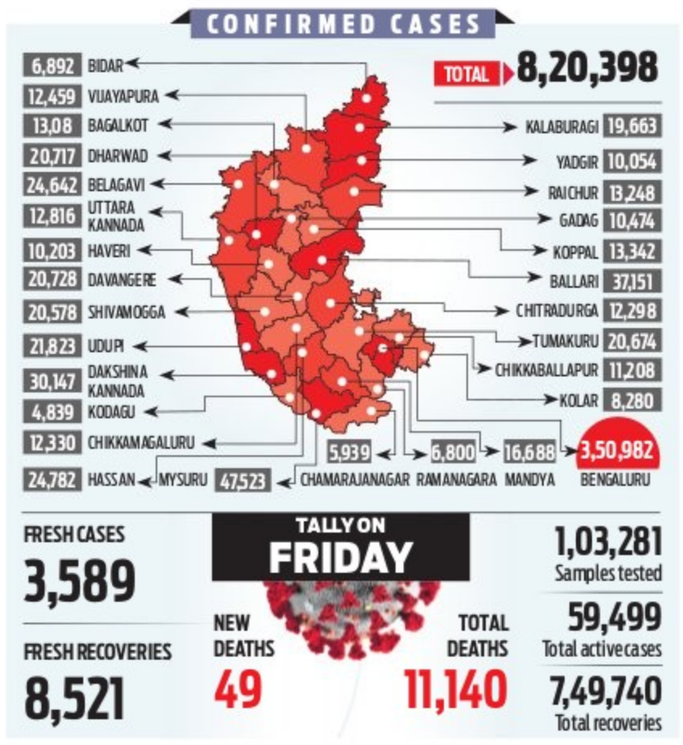
Staff at a Bengaluru fever clinic collect and label samples | EXPRESS

The study design is yet to be formulated and the team is working out what questions they are hoping to answer.

"We must be scrupulous about how the study will be designed. The data can help us analyse factors influencing mortality rate such as comorbidities, age profile, gender etc. The CCST has treated and monitored Covid patients who have been on ventilators, non-invasive ventilation and HFNC (high-flow nasal cannula), as well as Severe Acute Respiratory Infection and Influenza Like Illness cases. We can also study how the ageing of the immune system due to immunosenescence has been beneficial in reducing the cytokine response to Covid. This has helped prevent death in several cases," Dr Anoop said.

A cytokine storm refers to the immune response to a disease, infection or autoimmune condition, in which the body releases cytokines (proteins) into the blood.

As of Thursday, 935 high-risk patients were admitted in ICUs and the pandemic claimed a total of 11,091 lives in the state. State Covid war room data shows that of the patients who died, 6,001 were aged above 60 years and formed the majority of fatalities. This is followed by the 51-60 age group with 2,892 deaths, 41-50 age group with 1,486 deaths, 31-40 age group with 676 deaths, 21-30 age group with 234 deaths, 11-20 age group with 46 deaths and 0-10 age group with 29 deaths.



2 dists gather data on health staff for vaccine

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Davanagere/Chitradurga

THE twin districts of Davanagere and Chitradurga are gearing up to administer the Covid-19 vaccine, starting with health workers, when it becomes available.

Davanagere Deputy Commissioner Mahantesh Bilagi said during the preliminary meeting of the district level task force, that the district should be made a model district in administering the vaccine. In the first stage, it would be given to health workers including anganwadi and ASHA workers.

The district has around 20,000 health staff according to a preliminary survey, District Surveillance Officer Dr G D Raghavan said, but a final list was yet to be prepared. It is not yet known whether the vaccine is subcutaneous, intradermal or intramuscular. Detailed information will be available after the training of vaccinators is completed shortly, he said.

Bilagi said that both government and private hospitals must provide information about all types of staff to district offcilas in two days to ensure that sufficient quantity of vaccines arrive for the first phase. Chitradurga DHO Dr C L Palaksha said that the preparation of the list of fronline staff was underway and would be given to the government soon for that enough vaccine was received.

'Do away with trade licences for theatres'

"BESIDES, we have been demanding the government levy electricity charges at industrial instead of commercial rates and permit us to collect service charge at 5% on net rate of tickets for non-AC theatres and at 10% for AC ones, but our demands have not been addressed," said R R Odugoudar. Presently, service charge is ₹2 for non AC theatres and ₹3 for AC theatres.

Referring to the varying property tax rates on cinema theatres under different civic bodies, the exhibitors have sought uniform rates across the state and doing away with trade licences for theatres. They also said that producers must agree to changing the existing business module of fixed weekly payments to a percentage-based module.

City researchers to get aid for green PPE kits

CHETANA BELAGERE
@Bengaluru

THERE seems to be an answer to the disposal of polypropylene Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) kits – a biodegradable kit. With disposal of PPE kits increasingly becoming a challenge, a particular type of biodegradable material was proposed by a Bengaluru college at a recent innovation challenge on Covid-19.

The Government Dental College and Research Institute (GDCRI) proposed the idea at a hackathon recently hosted by the Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences (RGUHS), which was inaugurated by Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

"Disposal of PPE kits has been a challenge ever since the pandemic started. PPEs are not worn by healthcare professionals alone, but also by the public. Every day, nearly 3 lakh kits are produced in India. Hence, we pitched the idea to produce biodegradable kits. Our proposal was liked by the judges and we were awarded," said research member Dr Biji Brigit, who is also associate professor with the department of conservative dentistry.

Material currently used to manufacture PPE kits is not biodegradable, and pose a challenge in hygienic disposal | EXPRESS

The Central Pollution Control Board has issued separate guidelines for handling, treatment and disposal of used PPE kits -- face shields, goggles, hazmat suits, plastic coveralls, masks, head covers and shoe covers have to be separated and sent to common facilities for disposal.

However, PPE coveralls are made of polypropylene and are not biodegradable. Hence, a team of doctors and postgraduate students from GDCRI, led by their department head Dr Kiran Kumar, proposed the use of polymer-based coveralls.

"We are planning to make a combination of this polymer with other polymers and fillers to reduce cost and improve mechanical properties. Segregating and disposing is a challenge, so our proposal to manufacture biodegradable PPE kits will surely help," Dr Biji said.

Dr V Sacchidananda, vice-chancellor, RGUHS, said, "The idea impressed us and we will support the researchers financially to develop more kits. The proposal will then be sent to the Centre."

Researchers involved in the project are Dr Kiran Kumar, Dr Biji Brigit, Dr K Rashmi, Dr Priya, Dr Annapoorna and Dr Hariprasad.

JDS senior leader Kumaraswamy, while campaigning for party candidate Ammajamma, warned CM B S Yediyurappa that if the government fails to fill all the 65 tanks in the Sira constituency, he will take out a 'padayatra' to Vidhana Soudha from Sira

Sira will prove BJP can win anywhere: CM

Cong, JDS fighting for second place, will win from Rajarajeshwari Nagar too, says confident Yediyurappa

RAMU PATIL @ Bengaluru

AS electioneering reached a crescendo, Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa on Friday hit the campaign trail with the confidence that the BJP would win both RR Nagar and Sira bypolls by a big margin.

"The Congress and JDS will be fighting for the second place," Yediyurappa told The New Indian Express after attending election rallies in Sira. "There is no competition, and we will win both seats with a big margin," he said, enthused by the good response for his roadshows and rallies.

The BJP is going all out to win the Sira assembly segment in Tumakuru, a Vokkaliga-dominated constituency that has never been won by the party. In fact, in the 2018 elections, the BJP was not even in contention. B Sathyanarayana from JDS won the seat defeating his nearest rival, Congress candidate T B Jayachandra by a margin of over 10,000 votes.

Jayachandra is contesting the bypoll as a Congress candidate against BJP's Rajesh Gowda and JDS candidate Ammajamma, wife of late JDS MLA Sathyanarayana.

Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa takes part in a roadshow to campaign for BJP candidate Dr C M Rajesh Gowda in Sira on Friday

"Winning Sira will prove that the BJP can win any seat in the state," the CM said, emphasising BJP's push to gain ground in constituencies it had not done well earlier. In Sira, the CM promised Hemavathy river water to Madaluru tank, a long-pending demand. "The CM's assurance will have a big impact," said BJP General Secretary and MLC Ravi Kumar, who views the bypoll as a direct contest between BJP and Congress.

The BJP has centered its strategy on micro-managing caste equations. At the same time, it is pushing the development agenda too, promising drinking water, good roads and a constituency free of huts.

Though the bypolls will not impact his government's stability, Yediyurappa is going all out to win both seats to reassert his leadership and boost the government's confidence. He will address election rallies in RR Nagar on Saturday.

'Will win both seats'

How was the response to public rallies?
Response was better than our expectation. I had not seen such good response even in Shikaripura.

How confident are you of winning the Sira seat?
We will win Sira with a margin of over 25,000 votes.

What about RR Nagar?
We will comfortably win with a margin of over 40,000 votes. In both the seats, Congress and JDS will be fighting for second place. There is no competition.

How important are the bypoll results to you as it will not have any impact on the government's stability?
That (impact on the government's stability) is not an issue, but as a political party, all elections are important. All of us are working to win both seats.

Congress and JDS leaders are criticising the government's handling of various issues from flood situation to Covid
Let them talk about any issue, people will respond to them in the elections.

A large number of people participate in the BJP rally held in Sira where Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa campaigned for the party candidate

BSY addresses two big rallies, gives party major boost

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@Sira (Tumakuru)

CHIEF Minister B S Yediyurappa on Friday gave a much-needed boost to BJP candidate Dr C M Rajesh Gowda by addressing two largely-attended public rallies at two politically strategic areas of Madaluru and Sira towns.

He promised that Hemavathy river waters will be used to fill the big tank in Madaluru and the Kunchatiga Vokkaliga community, which is in majority it the constituency, will be accorded the Backward Class 2 tag.

He also said that the Kadugolla community will be recognised as Scheduled Tribes. "I will ensure that Madaluru tank is filled within six months. I myself will inaugurate the project," he added.

While his son and BJP state unit vice-president B Y Vijayendra said Sira will be developed along the lines of KR Pete, where the BJP managed to win the bypoll through a well-laid-out strategy last year, Yediyurappa promised to do a Shikaripura here.

"We will win the Sira bypoll by 25,000 votes and RR Nagar by over 65,000 votes," he claimed.

Giving a sense of development plans in store for the constituency, KR Pete MLA and minister K C Narayana Gowda spoke about "the K R Pete model of development". "Wherever Vijayendra steps in, victory is certain. Large amounts of funds flowed into our constituency after I was elected. Now, I handle three portfolios," he said, beaming.

For the first time in the history of the constituency, where the saffron party has fared poorly, there was a large turnout for the CM's rally, and people, brought in from different parts of the district, were seen wearing saffron shawls.

"This rally is significant for me as the chief minister has given me a big leap," Dr Rajesh Gowda told The New Indian Express.

Indeed, when biggies from the Congress, like Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah and KPCC president D K Shivakumar, and from the JD(S), party patriarch H D Deve Gowda and former CM H D Kumaraswamy, have been campaigning extensively, Yediyurappa's swashbuckling visit has boosted the chances of this first-time candidate in a triangular fight.

Shivappa had come all the way from Gubbi to Sira to have a glimpse of Yediyurappa. Whereas Srirangappa of Gajamaranahalli claimed that though he is a supporter of Congress candidate T B Jayachandra, he had come to witness the rally as it was addressed by the chief minister.

Opposition leaders, however, alleged that the rally organisers distributed liquor and Rs 500 to each of those who attended the rally.

Caste factor: Naidu vs Vokkaliga in RR Nagar as Darshan campaigns

Sandalwood stars rally for Muniratna

ENS @ Bengaluru

WITH just two days left for campaigning to end in RR Nagar, parties are going into battle, guns blazing. Bigwigs of BJP and Congress were on the streets on Friday, hoping to draw the crowds.

The BJP recruited a Sandalwood brigade to pep up its campaign — actors Amulya, Darshan and producer Rockline Venkatesh did a day-long roadshow for N Muniratna. Darshan, who had similarly thrown his weight behind Sumalatha Ambareesh for the Mandya LS poll, appealed to the people to vote for Muniratna for having helped residents during the lockdown. "I am not here to campaign for any party, but to support Munirathna whom I know personally," he said.

Darshan started his roadshow from Yeshwantpur Railway Station grounds and proceeded till Kottigepalya.

At the same time, KPCC President D K Shivakumar, Opposition leader Siddaramiah and other Congress leaders criss-crossed RR Nagar, covering Peenya, Jalahalli and other places.

Siddaramaiah said, "If you are voting for Muniratna thinking the BJP is in power, you will face bad days. He won twice earlier because of Congress, not because of his individual charisma. When I was CM, we had given ₹2,000 crore as grant to RR Nagar."

Sandalwood actors Amulya and Darshan greet voters during a roadshow for BJP's RR Nagar candidate N Muniratna, in Bengaluru on Friday | MEGHANA SASTRY

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

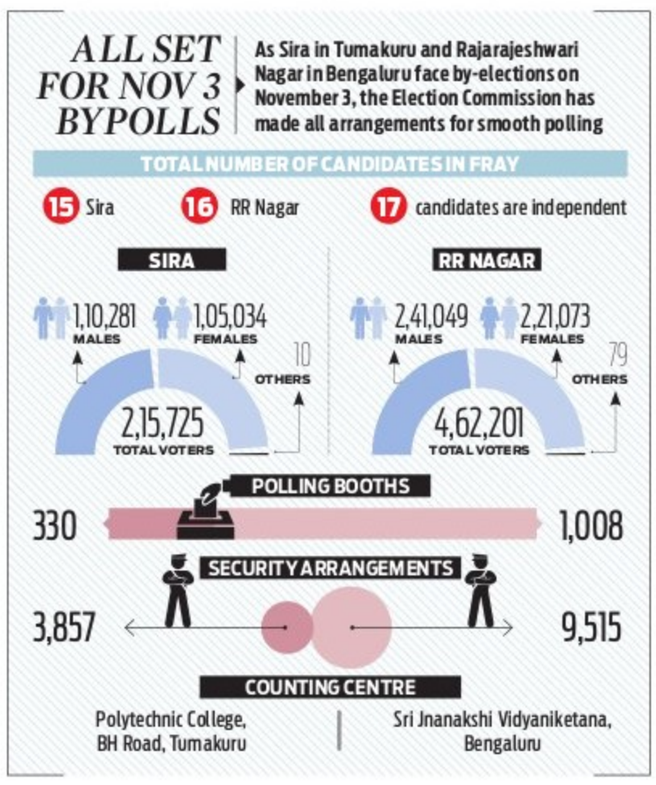
LOUD Chants of 'The Boss... The Boss...' rented the air as Kannada film actor Darshan hit the lanes and bylanes of Rajarajeshwarinagar in support of BJP bypoll candidate Munirathna. Frenzied fans and bystanders gathered outside their homes in large numbers as Friday was a holiday because of Eid.

Darshan, who played hero in 2011 starer 'Boss' and has many super hits to his credit, smiled and waved from the top of an open van, while women did mangalarathi to him.

As Darshan hit the streets, Congress leaders, who seemed outmanoeuvred, pointed out that the actor, who is a Balija Kapu, is supporting Munirathna, a Naidu, and made it into a Vokkaliga vs Naidu fight. They hoped that it would stick, considering that Congress state unit president DK Shivakumar is a Vokkaliga.

They said that film producer Rockline Venkatesh, corporator Venkatesh, Darshan and Munirathna are all originally from Andhra Pradesh and are "outsiders". The BJP had its own counter, portraying Shivakumar as an outsider as he is from the Kanakapura constituency and not RR Nagar.

Amid all the show and dazzle from both the BJP and Congress, JDS candidate V Krishnamurthy has not had any visibility at all. But the party has done reasonably well in previous elections in this constituency, with party candidate G H Ramachandra bagging over 50,000 votes in 2013 and 60,000 votes in 2018.



EC collects 4,700 postal ballots, Oppn cries foul

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

ELECTION Commission officials have collected 4,687 postal ballots from Sira, where the byelection is being held on November 3. But opposition parties cried foul, saying the number is too big and pointed to the Dubaku by-election in Telangana, where the opposition has alleged that the ruling party, Telangana Ekikarana Samiti, had the list of postal ballot voters earlier than other parties and took undue advantage with over 6,000 votes already being cast.

Opposition parties in Karnataka too alleged that the ruling party had an early access to the list, which was prepared by the Election Commission. JDS senior leader H D Kumaraswamy said, "The BJP had the list on October 23, while we got it only on October 25."

Congress candidate H Kusuma at a rally in RR Nagar on Friday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

Congress candidate from Sira, T B Jayachandra, said, "We have been cheated. The officers did not even seal the ballots after collecting them. When our party workers protested, they were booked under Section 353."

Kumaraswamy said, "They tried to woo our voters, who refused the offer as they are not corrupt."

Surprisingly, he added, in every category of such ballots, the Sira numbers are more, though RR Nagar has more number of senior citizens, disabled and Covid positive persons, who are eligible to cast such votes.

Officials said that though RR Nagar has more Covid cases, the patients have been allowed to vote, reducing the postal ballot numbers. Also, senior citizen and disabled voters in Sira far outnumber RR Nagar's.

In RR Nagar, 225 such ballots have been cast. Of them, 210 are from the elderly and 15 from the disabled.

In all, 5,660 senior citizens and 695 disabled from the constituency are eligible to cast their postal ballots, said State Election Commission CEO Karnataka Sanjiv Kumar.

In Sira, of the 4,687 postal ballots cast, 2,587 are from senior citizens and 2,001 from the disabled and Covid affected. In all, 4941 are allowed to cast postal ballots.

FIGHT AGAINST LAND ACT

Farmers harness 'e-power' to drum up support

AJITH M S @Mysuru

IT'S war on a tech platform. With farmers and their protests often drowned out by crafty social media bombast, the Raitha Sangha and 32 other like-minded organisations are setting up their own IT cell for a say in the high-stakes bypoll battle in Sira and RR Nagar.

Taking a leaf out of the BJP's playbook, the organisations, under the umbrella of Aikya Horatta Samiti, are hoping to garner support against the farm and land ordinances, and educate voters on the BJP's policies.

The cell is being run by a group of 18 volunteers, including three full-timers who are managing an arsenal of over 250 WhatsApp groups and over 5,000 Facebook pages. However, unlike the usual IT cell chatter which often revolves around blame games and whataboutery, this group focuses on the implications of farm laws and the Essential Commodities Act.

Farmer leader Badagalapura Nagendra addresses a press meet in Mysuru

Ravi Mohan, activist and full-timer at the group, told TNIE that they make clips of videos that expose wrong claims about the farm laws, draw up explainers, create posters and memes. He said the initiative was started during the recent massive protests by farmers, and was intensified with elections as the aim.

The group claims influence over a sizable chunk of voters since the constituencies, especially RR Nagar, has over 50,000 voters who hail from villages in Mandya, Kanakapura and Kunigal. "There are over 4,500 women from Mandya working as domestic helps in the constituency who are our primary audience," said Badagalpura Nagendra, Raitha Sangha president, citing their own voter survey.

He added that attempts are being made to make others aware too that such ordinances hurt their wallets too. "It is not just a farmer issue, look at the price of vegetables and other commodities, many don't know that it's happened due to amendments in the Essential Commodities Act," he said.

Nagendra said their aim is to teach the BJP a lesson in the elections, and make them realize their apathy towards the concerns of farmers. However, he clarified that they will not favour any candidate in the elections, as it would negate their struggle.

The organisations are also slated to hold mega rallies in the constituencies, with leaders like Michael Fernandes, brother of former Union minister George Fernandes, and others in the coming days, along with door-to-door visits.

Congress worker's kidnap exposes ugly politics, four held near Karwar

SUBHASH CHANDRA NS @Karwar

HALIYAL police arrested four people, all from Gangavathi in Koppal district, for kidnapping a Congress worker and exposed the underbelly of local politics.

The police said that the accused — Rakesh (24), Basavaraj (22), Sharanabasu (24) and Ravi Kurubar — had brought the victim, Manohar Swamy, to Uttara Kannada district to prevent him from contesting a town municipal Council election.

Swamy was expected to be a president or vice-president candidate in the election, which is scheduled for next week. His victory was almost certain as some BJP workers too had supported him.

> A case of kidnapping has been registered and we have taken the accused into custody. We will hand them over to Gangavathi police
>
> Shivanand Chalavadi, DySP, Dandeli

After he was kidnapped, Swamy fell unconscious, and the kidnappers panicked. They tried to get the help of local doctors, who tipped off the police.

"A case of kidnapping has been registered and we have taken the accused into custody. We will hand them over to Gangavathi police," said Shivanand Chalavadi, DySP, Dandeli.

The police said this could be a tit-for-tat crime as a municipal member, Sudha Somanath, was abducted earlier last week, allegedly by Congress workers.

Gangavathi, with a population of just over one lakh as per the 2011 census, started witnessi a flurry of abductions to eliminate strong contenders after the local election dates were announced.

In the 35-member Council, the Congress has 17 members, BJP 14 and JDS two. Two are independents.

Ex-mayor out of hospital, on the run

Sampath Raj is an accused in Bengaluru riots case; police issue notice to hospital

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FORMER mayor Sampath Raj, an accused in the Bengaluru riots case, who was admitted to a private hospital, is said to have absconded soon after his discharge. The Central Crime Branch (CCB) police have issued notice to the hospital for not informing them about Raj's discharge.

The CCB police had earlier questioned Raj for his alleged involvement in the DJ Halli riots case. When he was summoned for the second time, he had skipped the inquiry citing health reasons and was admitted to a private hospital. The police had also named him accused in the chargesheet submitted to the court in connection with the vandalism and setting fire to Pulikeshinagar MLA Akhanda Srinivas Murthy's house during the violence.

As the police wanted to question Raj again, they were waiting for his discharge. They had also issued notice to the hospital, where Raj was undergoing treatment, to inform them about the date of his discharge.

The police have now found out that Raj had been discharged on October 25 and had gone absconding after that.

Joint Commissioner of Police (Crime) Sandeep Patil said that the investigation officer of the case, ACP Venugopal, had served a written notice to the hospital on October 7 to give information when Raj will be discharged. "But the hospital discharged him without giving any intimation. Today, the ACP visited the hospital and issued another notice about the failure to give information," he added.

Sources said that the police were on the lookout for the former mayor while the hospital management will also be questioned about why they failed to inform the police about Raj's discharge, despite a notice being served.

DRUG CASE: ANOOP BINEESH'S 'BENAAMIDAR', SAYS AGENCY

ED: CPM leader's son transferred unaccounted money into bank accounts of drug accused

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A day after arresting Bineesh Kodiyeri, the son of Kerala CPI(M) secretary Kodiyeri Balakrishnan, in Bengaluru, the Directorate of Enforcement (ED) has stated that alleged drug peddler Mohammed Anoop is the "benamidaar" of Bineesh. The ED had arrested Bineesh on Thursday under Section 19(1) of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) after grilling him for more than three hours at its Bengaluru office.

On October 17, the agency had arrested Anoop under PMLA, and during his custodial interrogation, he had allegedly told ED officials that he "indulged in sale and purchase of narcotic drugs and was closely associated with Bineesh. All his financial dealings were done on Bineesh's instructions," the ED said in an official statement on Friday.

The agency further stated that the investigation in to the money trail has revealed that "Bineesh, on regular intervals, has transferred huge amounts of unaccounted money into Anoop's bank accounts. These were preceded by huge cash deposits in Kerala into the accounts of Bineesh Kodiyeri. He could not explain these transactions and was evasive in his replies," stated the central economic intelligence and law enforcement agency.

"Bineesh had several bank accounts and has indulged in transferring or layering huge proceeds of crime into various bank accounts," the ED statement added.

The central agency had initiated a probe against Anoop based on an FIR registered by the Narcotics Control Bureau (NCB) in Bengaluru on August 22, when he was arrested along with Anikha D and R Ravindran under Sections 22, 27A, 28 and 29 of the Narcotic Drugs & Psychotropic Substances (NDPS) Act.

The trio is lodged in judicial custody at the Bengaluru Central Prison at Parapanna Agrahara.

Bineesh: Affable guy with a mysterious side

Kozhikode: Affability and mysterious ways are two major traits which define Bineesh Kodiyeri, younger son of CPM state secretary Kodiyeri Balakrishnan, who has been arrested in connection with the Bengaluru drug cartel investigation. He has always been a jovial guy, though short tempered, with a vast network of friends. Even during his father's tenure as home minister, Bineesh didn't confine himself to the high circles nor display any haughtiness. However, he allegedly has a mysterious side to his character – dabbling in numerous shady real estate and other deals, often peddling the clout of his father. "Thalassery knows Bineesh as a jovial youth who is also cricket crazy. He used to freely interact with persons regardless of their social status. He used to roam around with his friends. Short-tempered and flamboyant, he was flaunted his father's clout, which is unbecoming of the son of a Communist leader," said a former batchmate of Bineesh from his days at St Joseph's HSS, Thalassery.

BMRCL cancels jobs after 18 months, aspirants to go to court

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

In an abrupt move, Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) on Friday announced that it was cancelling recruitment to 174 posts for which exams had been conducted, and the marks list published nearly 18 months ago. In all, 39,330 aspirants had applied for these posts, and a section of them is now planning to take BMRCL to court over the issue.

The posts advertised were that of 21 Junior Engineers, 19 Section Engineers and 134 maintainers. On Friday morning, a note was posted on the BMRCL website under its Career section: "Due to administrative reasons, the recruitment to the above said posts in BMRCL stands cancelled. Examination fees paid by those applicants who have appeared for the qualification examination will be refunded."

The desire to bag a government job had made a huge number of aspirants respond to the job notification on January 2, 2019. The marks list for three exams conducted by the Karnataka Examination Authority.was made public on its website on May 31, 2019. There was no news after that, and aspirants had been repeatedly interacting with BMRCL officials and others to know when they would be recruited. Express had highlighted their plight on September 23.

The State government had on July 6 this year frozen direct recruitment to all new posts in the State for the ongoing financial year, as an economy measure due to the pandemic.

One aspirant, who works as maintainer at a pharma company in Raichur, told TNIE, "The cancellation is a rude shock to me and thousands of others. We are very upset since the news broke this morning. We were repeatedly told to wait for some time and we were hoping that due to the corona crisis, we may have to wait till March 31, 2021 to be recruited. We are going to challenge this in the High Court. We are looking at filing the petition on Monday (November 2)."

Two cases could be filed, one by us and another by the Union, he added.

A topper in the qualifying exam, "I am feeling really helpless. BMRCL was the first exam I took and cracked it too, I was very hopeful of working for them. Going to court against BMRCL is an option I am mulling."

Model deletes bikini pics from Insta after outrage

ENS @ Mangaluru

A Bengaluru-based model deleted her pictures from Instagram, following public outrage against a photoshoot at a sacred site in Sullia taluk, Dakshina Kannada district, on Friday.

The model, Brunda Urs, was clad in a bikini for the shoot. The team conducted the photoshoot at Devaragundi falls, 2km from Thodikana temple in Sullia, which did not go down well with the locals, who believe that the spot is sacred with a Shiva temple nearby.

The model uploaded her photos on Instagram, which were noticed by some locals, who informed the Thodikana temple authorities. The locals say that during an annual festival at the temple, it is a tradition to bring theertha from Devaragundi, and conducting such shoots at a sacred place has hurt religious sentiments. The matter was brought to the notice of temple administrative officer and Sullia tahsildar, and they are discussing taking legal action against the model and her team. The Vishwa Hindu Parishad and Bajrang Dal Sullia unit have filed a complaint with the police.

Following the outrage, Brunda tendered a public apology. "...We did not know that it was a sacred place. The locals too had not informed us about it, and did not object when we were conducting the shoot... I tender an apology if I have hurt anyone's religious sentiments," she said in a statement to the media.

Covid fight: RBI praises Kerala health sector

T'PURAM: The Reserve Bank of India has lauded Kerala's Covid-19 containment strategy, attributing the success to empowered local self-governments (LSGs) and a robust healthcare system. In its annual report, 'State Finances --- A Study of Budgets of 2020-21', the central bank noted that the state "successfully managed to contain the spread of the pandemic in the first wave of infections". It further read: "The state now ranks third in active cases (as on October 13, 2020) and also has the highest percentage of active cases to total confirmed cases.

ISRO had cited lack of jurisdiction

ANTRIX had then stated that the scope and duration of the decision to terminate the agreement could not be anticipated.

"It is likely to be indefinite. It is not possible for Antrix to take any effective step to resume the obligations under the agreement," it had stated.

In June 2011, Devas had commenced arbitration proceedings under the Rules of Arbitration of the International Chamber of Commerce and also sought various legal remedies in India, including petitioning the Supreme Court, which directed for a tribunal.

Devas Multimedia filed the law suit in the US district court in September 2018, in which it said three separate international tribunals and nine different arbitrators had found the termination of the agreement 'wrongful'.

One tribunal described it as "conduct which shocks, or at least surprises, a sense of juridical propriety", while another had found it to be "a clear breach of simple good faith".

Antrix Corporation, in November 2018, sought dismissal of the lawsuit citing jurisdictional issues as the agreement and its termination had occurred in India. Devas had then argued that the US court had jurisdiction over these cases as Antrix Corporation conducted business across the USA, and cited a slew of business engagements of ISRO's commercial arm with American companies.

PARENTS PUSH THEIR LITTLE ONES TO EARN EXTRA BUCKS

PRAKASH SAMAGA @Udupi

In the dead of the night, scores of women labourers from North Karnataka are getting ready for work. At 2 am, they troop out of their homes to offload the catch from fishing boats at the Malpe fisheries harbour. After this, they load the fish on to trucks for transportation. While they are toiling away, the tender dreams of their children are shattered. Since they cannot leave behind their children at home, far from their workplace, the workers take their kids to the harbour. Since there is no monitoring by the authorities, the labourers make their kids work as well for some extra income.

The local authorities on Thursday 'rescued' 17 child labourers, all girls, and produced them before the Child Welfare Committee (CWC). However, by evening, they were sent back to their parents. The authorities have only managed to scratch the surface of the problem.

Suneetha, who was rescued, lives in Uddihal village in Gangavathi. Her mother moved to the village to look after her ailing father. She told to TNIE, "I returned to Uddihal six months ago to see my husband. I have taken a loan of ₹46,000 for treatment of his kidney. I also took a loan of Rs 2.5 lakh for my elder daughter's marriage. So I made my daughter stay at a relative's house in Malpe. When the adults go to work at the harbour, I also used to take my daughter. Instead of sitting idle, my daughter worked as well. Her earnings are helping us as we have a lot of mouths to feed." Sharada, whose daughter was among the rescued kids, hails from Ballari and resides in Kodavoor. She said that her daughter was recovering from a head injury and, on Thursday, she had taken the girl to the harbour to consult a doctor. "As I was working, my elder daughter told me that officials had taken away my other daughter. I had told her to sit near a tea shop and not to do anything, but officials charged me of engaging in child labour," she rued.

The Udupi district Child Labour Protection wing's project director Prabhakar Acharya told TNIE that parents argue that they get their kids to work to make ends meet. However, this amounts to delinquency as per the JJ Act. Child rights activist B K Narayan said that the authorities should conduct similar exercises regularly.

Maha ministers to sport black bands for Rajyotsava

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @Belagavi

While the people of Karnataka are geared up to celebrate Karnataka Rajyotsava on November 1, the Maharashtra government, shockingly, has decided to adopt an anti-Karnataka stand on the same day.

At a cabinet meeting in Mumbai on Thursday, the Maharashtra government gave a call to its ministers to tie black bands on their arms in support of 'Black Day', to be observed by pro-Maharashtra groups in Belagavi region, on the occasion of Rajyotsava on Sunday.

Maharashtra PWD Minister Eknath Shinde, who is also minister handling the Karnataka-Maharashtra border dispute, proposed this at the cabinet meeting, as a measure to support Marathi activists from Belagavi region. Chaggan Bhujbal, another minister in charge of the Karnataka-Maharashtra dispute, gave his nod for Shinde's proposal.

All ministers in the Shiv Sena-NCP-Congress government in Maharashtra will be wearing black bands on November 1.

K'taka inches up to 2nd rank in growth

Aparna Shrinivas pointed out that Karnataka ranked fourth overall, like last year, and on the equity parameter, it ranked 12th against last year's 17th position. In sustainability, it topped last year, but dropped to fifth spot this year. On the growth front, it ranks second, up from last year's third spot. It was also found that Karnataka did well on the counts of renewable energy, pollution levels and number of rape cases. But it scored poor in the category of households with bank accounts. Kerala ranked first in growth and sustainability, and second in equity.

For the study, 18 large states, 11 small states and seven Union Territories were assessed. "Since there is no platform for states to evaluate themselves, through this we are showing them the mirror of what they have done and where they have lost out. The government assessment is very subjective and if there are any differences in ground, then it only means that the data put on public domain and handed over the Central Government needs to be rechecked," Aparna said.

WHY ISN'T EC CRACKING WHIP ON BIHAR COVID NORMS VIOLATORS?

Surging crowds at election rallies are a good indication of a vibrant democracy. But these are not normal times. The deadly coronavirus has already killed over 1.2 lakh people in India and its next wave is expected in winter. Amid all the scare, the Election Commission of India began its first big experiment in learning to live with the pandemic by announcing the Bihar Assembly elections schedule and issuing a series of guidelines on safe mobilisation of people. But going by the turnout at rallies addressed by star speakers across the board, the EC appears to have lost the plot. Thousands of people standing cheek-by-jowl, most of them without masks, is what you get to see at such rallies. Didn't the prime minister say the other day that the lockdown is over but Covid is not, so better be safe? Why is it not finding any resonance in Bihar's poll rallies? The EC, too, in all fairness had written to parties in the state last week, sharing its alarm at their supporters flouting physical distancing norms and leaders failing to set an example by addressing gatherings without masks. Yet, there has been no visible impact on the ground.

So far, Bihar appears to have done creditably in managing Covid, as it stands 17th in the pecking order of active cases in India, negating fears that the lakhs of migrants returning home during the lockdown exodus could add to the rural case load. So why is the state now failing its people by ignoring the pandemic safety protocol? And why is it that the big pontificating netas just don't seem to mind? Such recklessness is surely an invite for hastening the next infection wave. As it is, Kerala, West Bengal and Delhi are proceeding towards a third peak, NITI Aayog member V K Paul revealed recently.

As for the EC, it has its task cut out. If infection cases spiral after the election dust settles, fingers would definitely be pointed at the poll body for thrusting elections on an unwilling opposition. Since its bark hasn't worked, it's perhaps time to bite. For its own sake, to maintain institutional credibility, it ought to take visible deterrent punitive action against all violators. Bihar lives matter.

WHAT'S AT STAKE IN TELANGANA BYPOLL

A victory for the TRS in the Dubbaka Assembly by-election in Telangana on November 3 appears to be a certainty. This predominantly BC Assembly segment has remained the ruling party's pocket borough for a long time. It has now nominated S Sujatha, the widow of late MLA Ramalinga Reddy who passed away in August, and deployed its expert in poll management, Finance Minister T Harish Rao. What is going in favour of the TRS is the changing landscape of north Telangana into a verdant area thanks to the Kaleshwaram Lift Irrigation Scheme, which has fetched the party the support of farmers.

For the Congress and the BJP, this battle is a litmus test as it would decide the degree of their relevance in the state. Both parties have mobilised all their men and machinery to make a difference as they have remained a distant second and third in most of the polls till now. The new Congress in-charge of Telangana, Manickam Tagore, is keeping a close watch on campaigning and has ordered each and every capable leader, starting with the PCC president, to stay put in the Assembly segment till the election is over, the first-ever move of its kind by the party. But what might hurt the Congress is its inability to groom a candidate for the by-poll; it has fielded Ch Srinivasa Reddy, who defected from the TRS at the last minute. The BJP too is an underdog and its candidate M Raghunandan Rao has lost to the TRS in the last three elections.

The track record of the TRS in wresting Huzurnagar, Palair and Narayankhed Assembly seats from its arch-rival Congress in earlier bypolls speaks volumes of the ruling party's prowess in such elections. Yet, while victory in its stronghold Dubbaka seems likely, this will not serve as a bellwether for the Greater Hyderabad Municipal Corporation (GHMC) elections due in the next couple of months as the latter is a different ball game. Still, a win would continue to enhance the feel-good factor in favour of the TRS, something that has already helped the CM's daughter K Kavitha bag an MLC seat in neighbouring Nizamabad with a whopping majority.

A few months ago, amidst Covid, newspapers in West Bengal carried reports about a man who bought an acre of land on Mars. When he brandished the title deed, the media asked whether he planned to spend his honeymoon (he was about to get married) on the red planet. Those who buy a bottle of Laphroaig also get a title deed, with a lease on one square feet of land in Islay. But Islay is terrestrial, Mars is not.

There is indeed a company (perhaps there is more than one) that sells you an acre of land on Mars with a deed registered with the International Association of Human Planetary Exploration (IAOHPE). I haven't found anything suggesting this is an authentic organisation. But if there are people gullible enough to pay for this doubtful package (there are standard, deluxe and premium rates) and like the resultant ego trip, why not? It seems to be no different from the idea of purchasing honorary doctorate degrees from places with dubious academic merit. Anyone who has bought land in India knows that registration of a sale deed does not guarantee ownership or title. But this is an inappropriate analogy. For registering a sale deed, the seller is presumed to possess title. For Mars, or the moon for that matter, there can be no such presumption.

While Mars is relatively new, land on the moon has been around for some time, again with deeds registered by IAOHPE, or without it. Sushant Singh Rajput was only one example. There was the German who claimed Frederick the Great gave his ancestor the moon. Interplanetary Development Corporation and Lunar Embassy Commission hawked lunar real estate. Every science fiction connoisseur will remember Robert Heinlein's 1949 novella, The Man who Sold the Moon. That man was a businessman named Delos David Harriman. At the time, at least in fiction, Heinlein invoked a legal maxim that has gone through extremely interesting evolution in jurisprudence. This fancy sounding Latin (law always becomes more impressive when Latin is used) maxim is, Cuius est solum, eius est usque ad coelum et ad inferos, abbreviated more simply as the ad coelum doctrine.

In plain English, a person who owns a plot of land not only has rights to the land, but also to the air above and subsurface below the land. In the novella, using this principle, Harriman persuades the United Nations to grant his company rights to the moon. With air travel (the change started with balloon flights) and now space travel, ad coelum has become circumscribed. No infinitely above and infinitely below. There are limits.

On specifics of rights on the moon, Mars and asteroids, there is an Outer Space Treaty (OST, 1967) and this covers the moon and other celestial bodies. Most countries have signed this, though some have signed, but have not yet ratified it. Article II of this Treaty seems clear enough, at least in intent. "Outer space, including the moon and other celestial bodies, is not subject to national appropriation by claim of sovereignty, by means of use or occupation, or by any other means." All law (and legislation) is overtaken by events, just as the ad coelum doctrine eventually had to be modified. The world in 2020 is different from that in 1967. Other than in the realm of science fiction, who would have imagined in 1967 that private companies would venture into space, or that chicken nuggets would float around in space?

As with land, property rights are a bundle of rights. Ownership is only one element. Delinking from ownership, what about mining extra-terrestrial resources in space? There have been add-ons to the OST ... But these don't address the core issue of exploitation of resources

The likes of IAOHPE can argue that Article II applies only to sovereign states, not individual parties. If there is such a legal case, I suspect Article VI of the OST is sufficient to settle matters. "States Parties to the Treaty shall bear international responsibility for national activities in outer space, including the moon and other celestial bodies, whether such activities are carried on by governmental agencies or by non-governmental entities, and for assuring that national activities are carried out in conformity with the provisions set forth in the present Treaty. The activities of non-governmental entities in outer space, including the moon and other celestial bodies, shall require authorisation and continuing supervision by the appropriate State Party to the Treaty."

The problem with the Treaty is elsewhere. Reflecting the vintage, the OST is primarily about peaceful space exploration and limiting the Cold War in space. It didn't anticipate property rights in space. As with land, property rights are a bundle of rights. Ownership is only one element. Delinking from ownership, what about mining extra-terrestrial resources? There have been add-ons to the OST, such as on return of objects from space (astronauts included), international registration and liability for objects launched and limitations on what governments can do on celestial bodies. India is a party to these. But these don't address the core issue of exploitation of resources, not always by governments, but also private companies. UN treaties are often honoured in the breach.

In any event, such a new treaty under the UN umbrella is unlikely. If the US can enact national legislation in 2015 (Commercial Space Launch Competitiveness Act, one should read what this says about space resource exploration and utilisation), why shouldn't India? We have a space programme and private entry has recently been allowed into these. However, Indian National Space Promotion and Authorisation Centre (In-Space), New Space India Ltd (NSIL) and Antrix Corporation require legislative backing on commercial exploitation of resources too, even if this conflicts with prior positions India adopted.

CHINA EYES OPPORTUNITY AMIDST THAILAND PROTESTS

PINAK RANJAN CHAKRAVARTY

Former Ambassador, Ex-Secretary in MEA & currently a Visiting Fellow at ORF, Delhi

For decades since 1932, after the Chakri dynasty gave up absolute power, Thailand has lived under the shadow of military coups. The most recent one was in 2014, when the current PM Prayut Chan-ocha was the army chief. The protesting students are demanding his resignation, fresh elections, a new constitution curbing the king's powers under a true constitutional monarchy, a proper democratic system and an end to state harassment of protestors. Neither the royal family nor the government have reacted to the demands.

The demonstrations by students have continued for over a month, creating an unprecedented situation. While protests are not new to Thailand, this time there is an anti-monarchy dimension hitherto not seen. King Maha Vajiralongkorn, who succeeded his father Bhumibol Adulyadej after the latter's demise in 2016, does not enjoy the adulation, respect and moral authority that his dad did among the people. He is almost an absentee king, returning to Thailand from his preferred abode in Germany for short periods to take part in royal ceremonies and state functions. Upon his return from abroad recently, demonstrators greeted the king's convoy with protests and slogans while it was driving past the Democracy Monument, a famous landmark in Bangkok.

Thailand's stringent lese majeste laws can put anti-monarchy protestors behind bars for 15 years if convicted. Any criticism of the monarchy and royal family members is not permissible. This long-held custom has been broken this time. To be fair, King Vajiralongkorn had earlier directed that lese majeste should be used cautiously.

Thailand's political tradition of military coups overthrowing democratically elected governments, on some pretext or the other, always receives the support of the monarchy. There is an "I scratch your back and you scratch mine" relationship between the monarchy and army.

Thailand's monarchy is immensely wealthy, controlling assets reportedly estimated to be above $30 billion. It is reputed to be the richest monarchy in the world. King Vajiralongkorn has gathered all control over the royal assets and also taken charge of appointments over the King's Guard, a military unit that functions as a praetorian guard. Thailand's indubitable success in controlling the viral pandemic is noteworthy. But its tourism-dependent economy has been hit hard by the Chinese-origin Covid pandemic, leading to massive unemployment. Disgruntlement with the royal family's wealth is one of several manifestations of these demonstrations.

The protests in Thailand are not only about democratic reforms but also about overhauling the education sector, economy and arbitrary arrests of activists under draconian emergency laws. This time, high-school students have also joined the protests. PM Prayut Chan-ocha is a prime target. After his military coup in 2014, he ruled as a dictator and then introduced a new constitution that was passed by the Senate, which was packed with cronies of the military. He then became a civilian PM by political manoeuvring of the election under the new constitution. The popular pro-democracy Future Forward Party, which did well in the election, was disbanded by a government diktat after being accused of electoral fraud. This triggered protests earlier.

Street protests are not rare in Thailand. During governments led by former PMs Thaksin Shinawatra and his sister Yingluck Shinawatra, their supporters, popularly called the "Red Shirts", frequently clashed with pro-royalist supporters called the "Yellow Shirts". Thaksin's Pheua Thai Party had its two earlier incarnations dissolved by the Constitutional court. Political parties in Thailand have had to navigate the entrenched so-called "deep state", which observers believe consists of the Privy Council that acts on behalf of the monarchy, army and a wealthy coterie of owners of leading business houses.

Chinese President Xi Jinping has sent a message of support for the Thailand king. Its foreign minister Wang Yi made a visit to Bangkok in a show of support for the government, spiced up by promises of investments to shore up the flailing economy

Political leaders who do not conform to the norms of the so-called "deep state" and seek to challenge the power structure are ousted by decisions taken by a judiciary—its members are handpicked by the deep state and viewed widely as partisan. Both former PMs, Thaksin and Yingluck, are in exile and cannot return to Thailand for fear of being imprisoned in cases where the government has secured convictions through a pliable judiciary. Both former PMs were ousted in military coups.

Thailand's media has allowed a wider debate to surface on the issue of the monarchy and its compatibility with democracy. In a move to deter the demonstrators, the government has initiated action to censor media coverage, raided a publishing house and banned messaging apps. The Yellow Shirts have been organised to confront student demonstrators. Thailand's government is clearly on the horns of a dilemma. Initially, it had dealt with the student protestors somewhat softly, hoping the demonstrations would fade away. PM Prayut's government could lose the support of its coalition partners, the Democrat and Bhumjaithai parties, if the confrontation gets out of hand.

China has seen a window of opportunity in the current political and economic crisis in Thailand. Its foreign minister Wang Yi made a visit to Bangkok in a show of support for the government, spiced up by promises of investments to shore up the flailing economy. Chinese President Xi Jinping has sent a message of support for the king. Beijing has been wooing Southeast Asian countries. It has proposed to set up the Eastern Economic Corridor infrastructure in Thailand as a focal point of the BRI, with a high-speed rail link between the two countries via Laos. In both Cambodia and Laos, Chinese investments and financial largesse have propped up authoritarian governments. After the Tokyo Quad meeting of foreign ministers, the growing acceptability of a free and transparent Indo-Pacific, and Australia joining the Malabar Exercises, China wants to ring-fence the ASEAN countries and prevent their moving closer to the Quad as this will create hurdles for Beijing's ambition to be the only hegemon in Asia.

China is very keen to get Thailand to agree to build the Kra canal that will permit maritime traffic from the Gulf of Thailand into the Andaman Sea in the Bay of Bengal. This alternate maritime route will enable China to overcome the "Malacca Dilemma". Thailand, after deliberating for some time, has shelved the idea of the Kra canal for now, for environmental reasons.

Nevertheless, China's trade with Thailand is worth around $80 billion and the latter is an integral part of the global value chain for manufacturing. Beijing has overtaken Tokyo as the largest foreign investor. China has now promised more to help Thailand's digital economy with Huawei's 5G network. Thailand has leveraged China's keenness to build the high-speed rail link, to also build a similar link to Singapore and push down costs quoted by Chinese companies. Beijing's embrace of Bangkok has the obvious strategic dimension for a China-led Asian order, which can be challenged by the Quad and its expansion in the future.

Exposing Pak's lies

Pakistani minister Fawad Chaudhry admitting his nation's role in the Pulwama attacks exposes its lies so far and bolsters India's assertions of cross-border terrorism. As PM Imran Khan stands exposed, it is for the global community to decide how to act on this information.

A terrorist state

One shouldn't require further evidence to declare Pakistan a terrorist state. It is hoped opposition parties in India will stop making blasphemous statements about the Pulwama attack after this.

UN must take action

Fawad Chaudhry's blunder shows that Pakistan is a terror-breeding country in the region. The UN should take note of this and take penal action on the country accordingly.

Attack despicable, but...

The church attack in the French city of Nice that killed three is despicable. This has come at a time of growing resentment over France's defence of cartoons on Prophet Muhammad. Though the attack must be condemned, France should stop the cartoons as it is a sensitive issue.

Serious global concern

The continuous attacks by Islamists in France is a serious concern to the world. Such incidents will further damage the community's reputation across the globe.

Free speech and religion

French President Emmanuel Macron has shown the guts to take on Islamist separatism and stood up for the freedom of speech. It is gratifying that the French council of the Muslim Faith has condemned the Nice attack. Freedom of speech and religion must coexist for a peaceful world.

Active Covid cases below 6 lakh

Govt says it's a significant milestone as India sees the drop for first time in nearly 3 months

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

FOR the first time in nearly three months, the active caseload of coronavirus in the country came down below 6 lakh and comprises only 7.35 per cent of the total cases, the Union Ministry of Health and Family Welfare said on Friday. This, the Centre said, was a significant milestone in its fight against the infectious disease.

As on Friday morning, there were 5,94,386 active cases of coronavirus infection in the country, the lowest since August 6 — when the active caseload in India was 5.95 lakh. The assurance by the Centre came on a day Kerala overtook Maharashtra in daily new cases. A total of 7,020 fresh cases were reported from the southern state in the past 24 hours, while 5,902 new cases were registered in Maharashtra.

"Presently, the active cases comprise only 7.35 per cent of the total positive cases of the country standing at 5,94,386. This has strengthened its trend of steady decline," the ministry said in a statement.

The trajectory of the active caseload across different states and UTs has been diverse indicating their efforts and gradual progress in their fight against the global pandemic, it added.

India has also sustained its high number of recoveries with 73,73,375 people having recuperated following the infection, according to the government.

"India continues to be the topmost country with the maximum number of recovered cases globally. The difference between active cases and recovered cases is consistently increasing and stands at 6,778,989 as on date," the ministry underlined. A total of 57,386 patients have recovered and were discharged in a span of 24 hours, whereas 48,648 new infections were reported during the same period, according to the data.

'ROLL OUT VACCINE FOR HIGH-RISK PATIENTS WITH PHASE-3 TRIALS'

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

ONE of India's most prominent virologists, Dr T Jacob John, has proposed that the Covid-19 vaccine candidates already shown as safe and triggering a good immune response in humans should be rolled out for high-risk people in parallel with the phase-3 efficacy trials.

Dr John's suggestion, along with paediatric infectious disease expert Dr Dhanya Dharmapalan, would be a sharp deviation from the current practices that allow vaccine roll-out only after the efficacy has been established through phase-3.

In a paper published in the Indian Journal of Medical Ethics, the duo has also recommended conditions such as a full-informed consent about the knowledge of experimental vaccine and no liability on the manufacturers for any adverse effects.

Such a limited parallel roll-out for the people with comorbidities and the elderly at risk of severe disease would only yield advantages given the risk of deaths posed by the pandemic, they have argued.

Interestingly, the suggestion came even as in July, ICMR chief Dr Balram Bhargava has drawn flak for urging institutes involved in the human trials of an indigenous potential Covid-19 vaccine to fast track its development. In India, at present, there are three vaccine candidates in advanced stages of trials. Pointing out that the Covid-19 is causing a humanitarian crisis, the authors, meanwhile, have said the country needs to sail right through these uncharted ethical waters, carrying the vaccine as cargo.

"There are ethical implications in even a day's delay, as that might make the difference between the life and death and of numerous individuals vulnerable to the disease," they have stressed.

"The rules regarding trials in three phases apply under ordinary circumstances when the need for a vaccine is not as urgent as it is now," says the paper, adding that if the vaccine works, it would save lives, if it does not, there will be no harm done. The paper also cited the example of Ervobo, an experimental Ebola vaccine not having undergone the phase-3 trial, which was, by consensus of all involved parties, directly applied during the Ebola outbreak in Guinea in early 2015, without placebo control.

Some experts, however, insisted that the phase-3 trials are necessary and should be prioritised, over offering unlicensed vaccines to any section of the population.

"What is proposed could easily be a phase-3 study in a target population," said senior medical scientist Dr Gagandeep Kang. Bioethicist Dr Anant Bhan, too, expressed concerns over the suggestions, saying: "We are dealing with a novel virus, and this makes the risk element higher, along with uncertainty," he said.

"It would be better for efficacy and additional safety data from phase-3 studies before allowing for vaccine access beyond the controlled conditions of a vaccine control trial. Many of these studies are ongoing, and we should wait for that data to emerge to decide on wider use," he added.

Conversion just for sake of marriage unacceptable: HC

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

DISMISSING a writ petition filed by an interfaith married couple seeking police protection, the Allahabad High Court on Friday observed that the religious conversion just for the purpose of marriage is not unacceptable. In the petition, the couple from Muzaffarnagar in western UP had sought the court to direct the woman's father not to interfere in its peaceful married life.

After hearing the petition filed by Priyanshi alias Samreen and her husband, the single judge bench, comprising Justice Mahesh Chandra Tripathi, observed that the woman was a born Muslim and got converted to Hinduism just a month before her marriage.

It was evident that the conversion had taken place only for the purpose of marriage, said the judge.

> The court has found that the first petitioner has converted her religion on June 29, 2020, and just after one month, they have solemnised their marriage on July 31, 2020
>
> Allahabad High Court

"The court has perused the record in question and found that the first petitioner has converted her religion on June 29, 2020, and just after one month, they have solemnised their marriage on July 31, 2020, which clearly reveals to this court that the said conversion has taken place only for the purpose of marriage," the bench said.

Referring to a 2014 judgment in the Noor Jahan Begum case, in which it was observed that conversion just for the purpose of marriage is unacceptable, the court dismissed the petition saying it was not inclined to interfere in the matter under Article 226 of the Constitution. In the 2014 judgment, the HC had dismissed a batch of writ petitions filed by a couple to seek protection as they had tied the knot after the woman converted from Hinduism to Islam and then performed the nikah or marriage.

Referring to the Hadis of the Holy Quran, the court observed that without having knowledge of Islam and without having faith and belief in it, the conversion was unacceptable in Islam also.

India handled border tension with firmness, maturity, says Shringla

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

FOREIGN Secretary Harsh Vardhan Shringla, who is on a visit to Europe, said India has dealt with the worst crisis along the border with China with maturity and firmness despite the pandemic challenges.

Mentioning the two recent attacks in France, the foreign secretary said: "One of the attacks has its origins in Pakistan. The civilised world needs to act with firmness to address the threat of terrorism. It was horrifying to hear about the two recent terrorist incidents in France, one of which, as is often the case, had its origins in our western neighbourhood – Pakistan."

Shringla on Thursday was addressing Institut Français des Relations Internationales, a think tank based in Paris.

"The immediate challenges have not been able to distract India from broader strategic goals, especially in the Indo-Pacific region where it is moving purposefully at multiple levels to create an open, inclusive architecture," he said.

Shringla is on a six-day tour to Europe where he will visit France, Germany and the UK and interact with his counterparts and other interlocutors.

Speaking on the threats of radicalism and cross-border terrorism from Pakistan, the foreign secretary said India has continued to ward off the menace from its western border.

"Radical ideology espouses violence and separatism, very often fanned and supported by foreign influence, adding such forces seek to destabilise pluralist societies," he said.

He said India has experienced what radicalism can wreak and the violence it unleashes for over three decades now.

Complaint filed against Taslima over hate tweet

NEW DELHI: Activist Saket Gokhale on Friday filed a complaint with the Union Home Ministry against Bangladeshi author in exile Taslima Nasreen for allegedly trying to spread communal disharmony in India while staying in New Delhi on an Indian visa.

"This is to bring to your urgent notice the gross violation of visa norms and an attempt to spread communal disharmony in India by one Taslima Nasreen (citizen of Sweden) who resides in New Delhi on an Indian Visa. On 29/10/2020, Nasreen, through her verified Twitter account posted a tweet which said 'Boycott Islam'," stated the complaint filed before the Foreigners Regional Registration Officer.

Gokhale, in his letter to MHA's visa wing and the FRRO, said Nasreen's tweet "is a blatant and intentional attempt to spread communal disharmony and hatred in our country".

The complaint further said: "May it be noted that foreigners on any kind of visa are not allowed to be involved in political activities during their residence in the country." Gokhale urged the government to take immediate cognizance of the matter and tweeted: "A Swedish national spreading communal hate speech in India will NOT be tolerated."

Nasreen's "Boycott Islam" tweet came on October 29 on the heels of the recent terror attacks in France, including the attack on Thursday inside a church in Nice, in which three people were killed and several others injured. ENS

Dalit rights team seeks psycho-social help for Hathras victim's family

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE family of the Hathras rape and murder victim should be immediately provided with psycho-social support by government agencies, urged a fact-finding team of the National Dalit Movement for Justice — a coalition of Dalit organisations.

The family has faced severe stress through surveillance by the police and media, the team said in its report. Dalit children in the area faced casteist slurs, the women said they feared atrocities by dominant caste people in the area.

The Supreme Court had recently ordered that security be provided to the victim's family and witnesses in the case. The Dalit coalition said with monetary assistance, a continuous and comprehensive guided psycho-social support by mental health professionals should be provided to the family members to rehabilitate them from the mental trauma they have been undergoing through the loss of their daughter and the police and media scrutiny that they were subjected to. During interactions with the family members, they expressed their grief over not even being able to conduct the last rites of their daughter and said they felt helpless over the existing situation, according to the report.

The role of the state police and administration in the entire case was "anti-Dalit", "biased and apathetic", the fact-finding team said. There was no action against the protest of dominant caste people who had gathered there despite Section 144 of the CrPC being imposed at that place, it added. There were four Dalit families in the village and the practice of untouchability was prevalent, the team said. The Dalits did not feel comfortable to send their children to the schools. There was a primary government school in the village and Dalit children faced caste-based discrimination there, it said.

7K tonnes onion already imported; prices falling: Goyal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

AMID the rising prices of onion and potato, the government has started importing the kitchen commodities, said Consumer Affairs Minister Piyush Goyal, adding that while 7,000 tonnes of onion have already been imported by private players, 25,000 tonnes more is expected to arrive before Diwali.

Goyal also said 30,000 tonnes of potato are being imported from Bhutan to boost the domestic supply and check then price rise. The Union minister also said the average price of onions has now come near ₹68, while that of potatoes is ₹42 per kg.

Goyal's statement came days after Union Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar announced that one lakh tonnes of buffer stock of the key kitchen staple will be released by the Centre to provide relief to people as retail onion prices had shot to ₹100 a kg in some parts of the country.

Goyal also said the government has worked on doubling the farmers' income, and it has also taken various steps to keep the prices of onion, pulses and potato in check. He added that onion is being imported from countries like Egypt, Afghanistan and Turkey by private traders. Even Nafed will import on its own capacity.

Trade resumes at Maha's Lasalgaon market

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AUCTIONING at Asia's largest onion market at Lasalgaon resumed on Friday but the sales were much less than the daily average as farmers remained wary.

Suvarna Jagtap, chairman of Lasalgaon APMC in Nashik district, said only 3,500 quintal of onions were sold during the day against the average daily sale of 8,000-10,000 quintal.

"Farmers were a little worried about the rates and hence, did not bring their crops to the market. The onion market will remain volatile for next one month till the arrival of the new crops," Jagtap said.

Onions were sold at highest ₹59 per kg while the average price was ₹51 per kg in the wholesale market. The retail price of the bulbs continued to be around ₹80-90 per kg.

She said the Centre has also issued a notification relaxing the storing and grading period limit norms. "As per the notification, the daily purchase will not be part of actual storage. They have given this exemption and therefore, the traders participated in the auctioning process on Friday," Jagtap saids

The Lasalgaon traders had refused to purchase onions from the farmers in protest against the Centre's stock limit notification which permitted wholesale traders to stock maximum 25 tonnes of onion while retail traders were allowed to keep two tonnes.

No challenger to Nitish on women vote bank

The Muzaffarpur shelter home scandal is forgotten as women feel that the JD-U president is their best bet in Bihar

MUKESH RANJAN, RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR & RITWIKA MITRA
@ Muzaffarpur/Patna/New Delhi

ALTHOUGH tucked away into a corner of a lane, it's not difficult to locate the den of vice and atrocities against girls. "The shelter home, it's that way," said a bystander, pointing to a white-coloured, two-storey building whose upper floors have been visibly demolished.

The locked building once served as a shelter home for girls, housing 42 of them aged between 7 and 17. In May 2018, an audit report revealed sexual abuse of the girls. Investigations brought out more skeletons, pointing out that at least 34 of the 42 had been raped for months, serving clients who came at night in "lal batti waali gaadi (car with red beacon lights)."

BIHAR 2020 DECIDE

Such were the horror stories that the Supreme Court took suo moto cognizance, a state minister resigned in disgrace and Bihar chief minister Nitish Kumar's woman-friendly image took a beating.

But two years down the line, the Muzaffarpur shelter home case, as it came to be dubbed, is an issue of the distant past, a matter not even worth a debate among women of the town.

"It's been more than two years now so how does is it matter? It's foolish to talk about it," said Sajda Khatoon, 52, who lives two houses away from the horror home.

Khatoon also dismissed insinuations behind Nitish nominating Manju Verma, the minister who quit in the wake of the scandal, as the party's candidate. "This is politics, what is wrong in it," she asked.

Khatoon's sentiments are shared by other women in Muzaffarpur and beyond. Vegetable vendor Sumati Devi said the guilty were behind bars "so for me the matter is closed."

It is not just the shelter home case that is a non-issue for women in Bihar. Many of them admitted that the pace of development had slowed in the past two-three years but felt that there was no need to look beyond Nitish.

Shanti Devi of Jarang Baluaha village said there was some dissatisfaction among the women over some small issues but felt that they would not shift their loyalties from Nitish. "In politics, you cannot keep everyone satisfied. People will vote for a person who has done something good for the masses and this is the reason why women will vote for Nitish Kumar once again."

Meena Devi of Kamtaul village complained of lack of help during the Covid-induced lockdown but said the women in the state were happy and prosperous. "The interest amount on loans taken by self-help groups should have been waived for the lockdown period but that was not done," she rued. "But still they (women) will vote for Nitish Kumar as they want him to come to power again."

The Bihar CM's track record on women is mixed. While he has done well on jobs and the economic front, on crime and social empowerment the statistics are negative.

According to the Bihar Economic Survey 2018-19, the share of women labourers under the Mahatma Gandhi National. Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme has increased from 35% in 2013-14 to 46.6% in 2017-18.

The number of women owners of PDS outlets has gone up from 3,361 in 2015 to 3,640 in 2018. So is the percentage share of women in total employment, it has risen from 40.8% in 2015-16 to 46.6% in 2017-18.

But these numbers are in sharp contrast to the figures on abuse of women. Domestic violence for instance, the percentage of cases disposed was 82.3% in 2016-17, this fell to 19.9% in 2018-19.

The percentage of dowry abuse cases being disposed went down sharply from 74.6% to 15.3% in the corresponding years. The same was with sexual abuse in offices: it was 73.5% in 2016-17 and this fell to 55.9% in 2018-19.

Yet, for Rani Devi, a utensils shop owner, Nitish has performed well, especially in checking the coronavirus. "It is only his government that has succeeded in defeating the coronavirus without much loss of life," she said.

It is no wonder that Nitish has gambled on more women candidates this time. Of the 115 Janata Dal (United) candidates, 22 are women, up from 10 in the 2015 assembly elections.

Out of the 7.2 crore voters in Bihar, around 3.4 crore are women. Their turnout has always been higher than men. In the 2010 assembly elections, 59.1% women cast their votes. This went up marginally, to 60.1%, in 2015.

School dropouts lowest in Bengal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

WEST Bengal scored the top position for a decline in the list of school dropouts, as per the Annual Status of Education Report (ASER), 2020. The West Bengal rate dropped to 1.5% this year from 3.3% in 2018, said the report.

At the national level, it went up from 4% to 5.5% during the period. The survey also said that Bengal is in the first position across the country for providing textbooks for school students.

The survey was prepared after communicating with 52,227 families living in 16,974 villages across the country. The ASER report is prepared by the Pratham Education Foundation every year.

Pratham is one of the largest non-governmental organizations in India. It works towards providing quality education to the underprivileged children.

The report also mentioned that the dropout rate is alarmingly high in states like Karnataka, Telangana and Rajasthan. In the segment of providing textbooks, Bengal is much ahead of Andhra Pradesh, Rajasthan and Telangana.

The syllabus committee of the school education department found the ASER data encouraging. "It was possible because of an integrated support system that ensures timely supply of school equipment, regular classes and mid-day meals and scholarships for deserving students. The success came through the roadmap shown by the CM," said a member of the panel.

The member said an uninterrupted mid-day meal system was one of the key factors behind Bengal's success. "Even during the lockdown period, food grains used for the mid-day meal are being handed over to the families of the students. Besides, the state government provided shoes, school bags, uniforms for underprivileged students."

The dropout rate in the age group of 15-16 fell more than 50%. Education experts found the state government's successful awareness drive was the reason and the Sabuj Sath scheme, under which students are given bicycles, also played a crucial role in ensuring transport for the students living in remote pockets of the eastern state.

J&K alliance reaches out to parties in Kargil

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

IN an attempt to reach out to people of Ladakh, a delegation of the People's Alliance for Gupkar Declaration led by National Conference leader Omar Abdullah visited Kargil district on Friday to evolve a joint strategy on the fight for restoration of Article 370.

The former chief minister asserted the fight was against the BJP and its mindset.

"Our fight is not against India. It is against the BJP and its mindset. The BJP is not India, and India is not the BJP. Whatever we want to achieve was there in the Constitution. We will continue our struggle for restoration of August 5, 2019 position and won't retreat," Omar told reporters.

In Kargil, people and political parties are opposed to the Centre's move of taking away the special status of Jammu and Kashmir.

After a meeting with leaders of the Kargil Democratic Alliance (KDA), Omar said the BJP is trying to give religious colour to their struggle for Article 370 restoration. "They (BJP leaders) say talks on restoration of August 5 position is a Muslim agenda, a Pakistan agenda and anti-national agenda."

"We condemn this propaganda. Ours is not a religious and regional agenda."

Omar said the agenda of Peoples Alliance and KDA is the same. "We want restoration of all what was snatched from us on August 5.".

Senior KDA leader and former MLA Asgar Karbalai said bifurcating the J&K state into two UTs and revoking its special status was unacceptable. "We were against it."

Pawar's social engineering seen in MLC choices

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

NCP chief Sharad Pawar has opted for a social engineering by nominating Dalit, Dhangar and OBC leaders to the Maharashtra Legislative Council in what is being seen as a well-planned strategy to shed his party's tag of a Maratha outfit.

OBC leader Eknath Khadse, Dalit playback singer Anand Shinde, Dhangar leader Yashpal Bhinge and farmer leader Raju Shetti were nominated for MLC berths in the Governor's quota, NCP insiders said.

The Maharashtra Cabinet has approved 12 names for MLCs with each alliance partner of the Maha Vikas Aghadi — the Shiv Sena, the NCP and the Congress — getting four slots. The list of candidates will soon be submitted to Governor BS Koshyari.

Pawar is aware that his party's influence is limited to western Maharashtra only which resulted in the NCP bagging 54 out of the total 288 seats in 2019, the party sources said. After forming the government with the Shiv Sena and the Congress in Maharashtra, Pawar decided to expand his party's footprints into new territories. While inducting BJP veteran Eknath Khadse, Pawar had said that the OBC leader's entry opens up the chances of expansion in north Maharashtra.

The wily Maratha strongman wants to turn into an inclusive party so that his party can reap more benefit in the next elections. Other than the OBCs, Pawar wants to expand his base among the Dhangars by nominating Yashpal Bhinge who had trounced former chief minister Ashok Chavan in the 2019 Lok Sabha polls. Bhinge has a strong base in Marathwada. As for Shinde, Pawar is eyeing a challenger to the Dalit leadership which lies with Union Minister Ramdas Aathwale.

"Pawar carries the legacy of former chief minister Yashwantrao Chavan by giving representatives to every community that makes matter in electoral politics. The NCP chief takes the conscious effort while giving the representatives. Pawar not only does the caste arithmetic politics but also inclusive. It is this reason that he is relevant in Maharashtra's politics in last five decades," said a political observer.

Hovercrafts for Kumbh visitors

VINEET UPADHYAY @ Dehradun

THE Uttarakhand government plans to deploy hovercrafts and ferry boats as part of a waterway service for pilgrims and tourists congregating at Haridwar in the next year's Mahakumbh.

The Kumbh Mela administration has already given a presentation in New Delhi to the shipping ministry. "We have sent a proposal to the ministry and as soon as the permission is granted, we will start working on it," said Deepak Rawat, Kumbh Mela officer-in-charge. "Our aim is to provide good, unparalleled experience to Mahakumbh pilgrims. We are aiming to elevate the religious congregation at global standards. Once the permission comes in, the Ganga waterway will become an added attraction. This will also ease traffic burden on highway and inner roads."

Last year, Union minister of state for shipping Mansukh Laxmanbhai Mandaviya had backed the hovercraft-ferry-boat service for Kumbh.

The whole mela area will be divided into 23 sectors for effective management of the largescale event.

The state government has also planned a 1,000-bed Covid care center with 493 doctors on duty. Ambulances will be parked at selected spots for medical emergencies.

Over 12 crore pilgrims are expected to participate in the event which spans for over months. More than 100 drones will be monitoring the congregation-round-the clock along with 1,500 CCTVs.

Turncoats galore in Assembly bypolls

While, the BJP has fielded ex-Congress MLA Raksha Saroniya, the Congress has fielded former state BSP president Phool Singh Baraiya. The BSP gave ticket to former minister Mahendra Boddh.

Second Gen leaders renew family rivalry

In Hatpipliya seat of Dewas district, one of the 28 seats going to bypolls in Madhya Pradesh on November 3, the BJP and the Congress candidates are carrying forward the poll rivalry of their fathers. While the BJP has fielded Manoj Chaudhary, who won in 2018 as Congress candidate, the Congress has fielded Rajveer Singh Baghel. The fathers of both candidates had battled from the same seat against each other in 2008. Twelve years ago, Rajveer's father Rajendra Baghel was the candidate of the Congress, while Manoj's father Narayan Chaudhary had contested as Independent on being denied a Congress ticket. Chaudhary who had stood third in that election had played a key role in then minister and BJP candidate Deepak Joshi's win.

Balbir Singh Yadav unearthed the diamond from a pit at Krishna Kalyanpur mine in Pati Bajaria area, official sources said. The precious stone has subsequently handed over to the mine office for being deposited with authorities. Though the actual value of the diamond will be decided by authorities, Balbir and his better half Laadwati have claimed that they have been informed that the extracted stone could fetch up to ₹40 lakh. Once the precious stone will be auctioned, the couple will get the proceeds after deduction of 12.5% royalty.

When Gods were invoked at rally

At a recent bypoll rally of the ruling BJP in Raisen district, there was a rich invocation of gods and goddesses on a single stage. Campaigning for BJP candidate and MP health minister Dr Prabhuram Chowdhary, former chief minister Uma Bharti said "on seeing the party's candidate on the first time only, I realized he is Bhairav's avtar, who is son of Goddess Kali, who too is referred as Uma. So our candidate is like my son." Seated on the same stage was another star campaigner CM Shivraj Singh Chouhan, who promptly said when Bhairav and Goddess Kali are there, how can Lord Shiva stay behind.

Texas early voting exceeds entire 2016 total

Polls show Biden in near dead-heat with Trump in GOP stronghold

WASHINGTON

The unprecedented increase in Texas voting is mainly because of turnout in Joe Biden (R)-supporting urban areas, though rural counties that are expected to vote for Donald Trump (L) have also seen big jumps in voting | AFP

TEXANS have already cast more ballots in the presidential election than they did during all of 2016, an unprecedented surge of early voting in a state that was once the country's most reliably Republican, but may now be drifting toward battleground status.

More than 9 million ballots have been cast as of Friday morning in the nation's second most-populous state, exceeding the 8,969,226 cast in 2016, according to an Associated Press tally of early votes from data provided by Texas officials.

Texas is the first state to hit the milestone. This year's numbers were aided by Democratic activists challenging in court for, and winning, the right to extend early voting by one week amid the coronavirus pandemic.

Texas also offers only limited vote-by-mail options when compared to the rest of the country, meaning casting in-person, early ballots is the primary way to vote for people who don't want to line up and do so on Election Day.

Voters in Texas do not register by party affiliation, so no one can be sure until the ballots are counted whether one party or the other will benefit from the surge in turnout.

Still, the fact that the state exceeded its entire vote total for the past presidential cycle with hours still to go in its early voting period which ends Friday, and before millions more people are likely to vote on Election Day, hints at a potential electoral sea change.

For Democrats, anything different is likely positive. The party hasn't won a state office in Texas since 1994 — the nation's longest political losing streak — nor seen one of its presidential nominees carry the state since Jimmy Carter in 1976. The party now believes it has a chance to seize control of the state House, flip as many as six congressional seats and a Senate seat.

President Donald Trump carried Texas against Hillary Clinton in 2016 by a comfortable 9 points, even though that was the smallest margin since Republican Bob Dole beat Democratic President Bill Clinton by 5 points in 1996.

Democratic presidential nominee Joe Biden's campaign has for months insisted that Texas, with its 38 electoral votes, is among the traditionally conservative states it is looking to flip — though it has long been more bullish on Arizona and North Carolina. Biden's running mate, California Sen. Kamala Harris, is visiting Fort Worth, Houston and the US-Mexico border town of McAllen on Friday, just four days before Election Day, using precious campaign time on the state far later than any major national Democrat in decades.

The news may not be all positive for Democrats, however.

The spike in early voting is most apparent in suburban counties around Dallas and in areas outside Austin, especially those south toward San Antonio. One area that has not seen voting rise dramatically, however, is the Rio Grande Valley, where Harris will be. Its population is about 90% Mexican-American and it is among the state's youngest and fastest-growing areas. AP

14 killed as earthquake strikes Turkey, Greece

ISTANBUL

A strong earthquake struck on Friday in the Aegean Sea between the Turkish coast and the Greek island of Samos, killing at least 14 people and injuring hundreds amid collapsed buildings and flooding, officials said.

A small tsunami struck the Seferihisar district south of Izmir, the city in western Turkey that was the worst affected, said Haluk Ozener, director of the Istanbul-based Kandilli Observatory and Earthquake Research Institute. At least 12 people were killed in Izmir, Turkey's third-largest city, including one who drowned, and 419 were injured, according to Turkey's Disaster and Emergency Management Presidency, or AFAD.

On Samos, where a tsunami warning was issued, two teenagers died after being struck by a wall that collapsed. Another eight people were reportedly treated at the local hospital for light injuries.

Izmir Gov. Yavuz Selim Kosger said at least 70 people were rescued from wrecked buildings, with four destroyed and more than 10 collapsed. Others suffered less severe damage, he said, but did not give an exact number.

Search and rescue efforts were underway in at least 17 buildings, AFAD said. Turkish media showed rescuers pulling people from the rubble. Smoke rose from several spots. The earthquake, which the Kandilli institute said had a magnitude of 6.9, struck at 2:51 p.m. local time (1151 GMT) in Turkey and was centered was centered in the Aegean northeast of Samos at a depth of 16.5 km.

It was felt across the eastern Greek islands and as far as the Greek capital, Athens, and in Bulgaria. In Turkey, it was also felt across the regions of Aegean and Marmara, including Istanbul. Istanbul's governor said there were no reports of damage.

Videos on Twitter showed flooding in the Seferihisar district, and Turkish officials and broadcasters called on people to stay off the streets after reports of traffic congestion. Potentially powerful aftershocks could be expected for several weeks, said seismologist Akis Tselentis. AP

Harris target of more online misinformation than Pence

Since being named to the presidential ticket, Kamala Harris has been at the center of online misinformation campaigns four times as much as the white men who campaigned for the job in the last four years, according to a report from media intelligence firm Zignal Labs shared exclusively with The Associated Press. The firm identified more than 1 million mentions since June on Twitter of Harris with hashtags or terms associated with misinformation about her.

New Covid-19 cases on the upswing again

Pakistan's new coronavirus cases surpassed the 1,000-mark on Friday after three months, as the second wave of the pandemic slowly but surely spreads across the country. The country registered 1,078 fresh infections, taking the national tally to 332,186. Last time, Pakistan registered more than 1,000 new infections on July 30 when 1,114 cases were detected in the country. After that, the number of new cases remained below 1,000. In this period, the minimum cases reported were 213 on August 30, according to the data shared by the ministry. At least 20 people have died in the last 24 hours, taking the number of COVID-19 fatalities to 6,795. Officials have warned that the new restrictions would be imposed if the current trend of rise in new cases continued.

Losses push colonial-era shopping store to close

The curtains have fallen on Robinsons, Singapore's over a century's old iconic colonial-era shopping store owing to the loss of business compounded by changing retail buying patterns and the Covid-19 pandemic. The 162-year-old departmental store is closing its last two outlets in the city-state and the existing posh retail business through liquidation. It is also closing two outlets in Malaysia, Shoppes at Four Seasons Place and The Gardens Mall, which will also undergo a similar liquidation process, as per media reports.

Govt employees told to work from home

Sri Lankan authorities have asked state employees to resume working from home in major townships as coronavirus infections continue to surge. The president's office says government offices in Western province, where the recent outbreaks have been concentrated, have been asked to switch to remote work as well. Sri Lanka had lifted work-from-home measures when community infections subsided. But clusters emerging from a garment factory earlier this month and later from the country's main wholesale fish market have resulted in a surge in infections and subsequent restrictions. Authorities also announced Friday that they have closed a resort town known as "little England" in the country's central hills to visitors.

Islamists seize upon anti-France anger

DUBAI

TENS of thousands of Muslims, from Pakistan to Lebanon to the Palestinian territories, poured out of prayer services to join anti-France protests on Friday, as the French president's vow to protect the right to caricature the Prophet Muhammad continues to roil the Muslim world.

Hardline Islamic groups across the region have seized on the the French government's staunch secularist stance as an affront to Islam, rallying their supporters and stirring up rage.

Demonstrations in Pakistan's capital Islamabad turned violent as some 2,000 people who tried to march toward the French Embassy were pushed back by police firing tear gas and beating protesters with batons. Crowds of Islamist activists hanged an effigy of French President Emmanuel Macron from a highway overpass after pounding it furiously with their shoes. Several demonstrators were wounded in clashes with police as authorities pushed to evict activists from the red zone, a security area that houses Pakistan's diplomatic missions. As night fell, demonstrators staged a sit-in on a main road some three kilometers away to protest authorities' use of force.

In Pakistan's eastern city of Lahore, an estimated 10,000 followers of the radical Islamic Tehreek-e-Labbaik party celebrating the Mawlid, the birthday of the Prophet Muhammad, took to the streets. They chanted anti-France slogans, raised banners and clogged major roads en route to a Sufi shrine. AP

Mahathir's walkback

Malaysia's PM Mahathir Mohamad accused Twitter and Facebook of unfair treatment after they removed his posts that said Muslims had the right "to kill millions of French people". The 95-year-old said his comments had been misrepresented and his main intention was to express that Muslims had never sought revenge for injustices. He said the posts were removed despite attempts to outline the context.

Scared Italians snap up baby-milk supplements

ROME

ITALIAN pharmacists are facing a huge upsurge in demand for a niche product usually marketed as an immune system booster for babies — weeks after a viral video suggested it could protect against coronavirus. Lactoferrin, a protein found in high concentrations in breast milk, has undergone a small clinical trial in Rome and the organisers reported positive results but said more research was needed.

There has been no confirmation that the drug is effective against coronavirus, but pharmacies in central Rome told AFP they were dealing with dramatic surges in demand in a country with one of Europe's highest death tolls. AFP

Sikh queen's jewellery who fought Brits auctioned

LONDON

JEWELS that once belonged to Maharani Jindan Kaur, the last wife of Sikh empire ruler Maharaja Ranjit Singh, and which were later inherited by her granddaughter, Bamba Sutherland, were among the highlights of an auction in London.

A collective lot of a gem-set gold forehead pendant, or chand-tikka, a gem-set gold mirrored roundel and a pearl-mounted gold pendant went under the hammer for over 62,500 pounds and other rare artefacts dating back to the 19th century also attracted many bids at the Bonhams sale this week.

The auction house believes the jewellery in the sale this week was almost certainly within the casket of jewels handed back to Maharani Jindan Kaur by the British authorities when she agreed to live in London with her son, Duleep Singh. PTI

Agri loans not eligible for interest waiver: Centre

Explainer says crop, tractor loans will not be covered by the scheme

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

AFTER having announced a waiver on interest-on-interest charged by banks during the moratorium period, the government has now clarified that this waiver will not be applicable for loans taken towards agriculture and allied activities.

According to the finance ministry's clarification, issued on Thursday, crop and tractor loans come under agriculture and allied activities loans and are not part of the eight segments or classes eligible under the scheme.

The details in the Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) list released by the ministry explains that the waiver shall cover only the following segments—MSME loans, education loans, housing loans, consumer durable loans, credit card dues, automobile loans, personal loans to professionals and consumption loans.

It also clarified that credit card dues which were outstanding as on February 29 would be considered for the waiver.

The Reserve Bank of India had, on Tuesday, asked all lending institutions, including non-banking financial companies, to ensure that the scheme of waiver of interest on interest for loans up to ₹2 crore for the six-month moratorium period is implemented by November 5, as decided by the government.

Only few segments eligible for waiver

The finance ministry says the waiver shall cover only the following segments: MSME loans, education loans, housing loans, consumer durable loans, credit card dues, automobile loans, personal loans given to professionals, and retail consumption loans

Last Friday, the government had announced a scheme granting an ex-gratia payment of the difference between the compound interest and simple interest for eligible loans over the six-month moratorium period.

Loan accounts with sanctioned limits and outstanding balances not exceeding ₹2 crore will be eligible. However, such accounts are to be standard in the books of the lending institutions as on the cut off date: February 29, 2020.

The period reckoned for calculation the refund shall be from March 1 to August 21, 2020 and the ex-gratia relief will be credited to the account of all eligible borrowers without any need to apply.

According to the scheme, lending institutions shall credit the difference between compound interest and simple interest in the respective accounts for the said period, irrespective of whether the borrower fully or partially availed the moratorium. The scheme is also applicable for those who have not availed the moratorium and continued with the original repayment schedule.

RELIANCE PROFIT DOWN 15%, RETAIL, TELECOM CUSHION FALL

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

RELIANCE Industries (RIL) on Friday announced a 15.05 per cent year-on-year (YoY) drop in consolidated net profit at ₹9,567 crore for the quarter ended September 30, primarily due to a weak oil business struggling with Covid-19 led disruptions. The company had posted a net profit of ₹11,262 crore in the corresponding period last year.

The consolidated revenue of the refining-to-retail conglomerate shrank 24.25 per cent to ₹1.16 lakh crore as against ₹1.53 lakh crore a year ago. The Mumbai-headquartered company reported a 36 per cent dip in revenue from its refining business on an annual basis.

Revenue from petrochemical business fell by 23 per cent as refining margins continued to fall and demand for fuel remained low. Its gross refining margin-the profit earned on each barrel of crude oil processed-slipped to $5.7 per barrel, lower than the $6.3 in the previous quarter and the $9.4 a year earlier.

Other verticals such as telecom and retail, however, offered a cushion to mitigate the impact on the oil vertical.

RIL's telecom arm Jio Platforms posted a nearly three-fold jump in net profit at ₹2,844 crore as against a profit of ₹990 crore in the corresponding period last year. Reliance Jio has raised more than $20 billion since April, with about half coming from Facebook and Google. Its revenue from operations rose 33 per cent to ₹17,481 crore.

The retail division, that sells everything from grocery to apparel, suffered a 4.9 per cent drop in revenue, but the decline was an improvement over the 17 per cent fall recorded in the previous quarter.

"Domestic demand has sharply recovered across our O2C business and is now near pre-Covid level for most products. Retail business activity has normalised with strong growth in key consumption baskets as lockdowns ease across the country. With large capital raises across Jio and Retail business, we have welcomed several strategic and financial investors," said RIL CMD Mukesh Ambani.

Karur Vysya Bank (KVB) on Friday reported an 81.4 per cent jump in its net profit at ₹114.89 crore in the second quarter of FY 2020-21, helped by lower provisioning for bad loans. Total income though fell to ₹1,666.26 crore in the July-September period of FY21 as against ₹1,815.24 crore in the same quarter of 2019-20, it said in a regulatory filing Interest income was down 9.3 per cent at ₹1,394.70 crore from ₹1,537.51 crore, but the bank recorded better asset quality with the gross NPAs falling to 7.93 per cent.

High provisions drive IndusInd profit down 53%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDUSIND Bank's net profit in the second quarter of the current financial year (Q2FY21) more than halved due to a rise in provisions and lower fee income. For the July-September quarter, the private sector lender registered a 53.2 per cent decline in net profit to ₹647.04 crore against ₹1,383.37 crore made during the same period last fiscal. Total income, however, fell 1.64 per cent to ₹8,731.05 crore during the quarter under review from ?8,877.02 crore a year ago.

According to the bank, its net interest income rose by 12.7 per cent to ₹3,278 crore from ₹2,909 crore last fiscal, while its net interest margin stood at 4.16 per cent. However, other income shrank 10 per cent on a year-on-year basis to ₹1,553.84 crore.

The primary hit came from provisions, which shot up by 166.3 per cent to ₹1,964.4 crore. "The extent to which the pandemic will impact the bank's operations and financial results is dependent on future developments," said Sumant Kathpalia, MD and CEO.

IOCL profit up 11-fold as inventory gains surge

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

STATE-RUN oil marketing company (OMC) Indian Oil Corporation Ltd (IOCL) on Friday reported a massive eleven-fold jump in its standalone net profit for the second quarter-earnings soaring to ₹6,227.31 crore from ₹563.42 crore in the second quarter of last year.

The company's balance sheet shows the spike in profit was driven primarily by a large inventory gain, a sharp rise in refinery margins, and a cut in expenditure. Revenue from operations reflected the impact on demand due to the pandemic, falling to ₹1.15 lakh crore during the quarter compared to ₹1.32 lakh crore a year ago. However, company officials say that demand is fast returning to normal.

Having bought a substantial amount of crude oil during the summer, when prices had hit record lows, IOCL accrued an inventory gain of ₹7,400 crore during the second quarter, compared to an inventory loss of ₹1,807 crore in the corresponding period of the previous year. It also earned $8.62 on turning every barrel of crude oil into fuel, or gross refining margin (GRM), compared to a GRM of just $1.28 last year. IOCL also had a foreign exchange gain of ₹672 crore during the quarter compared to a loss of ₹1,135 crore a year ago.

> We expect the two transportation fuels to come back to pre-COVID-19 levels within a month... ATF demand remains 48-50% lower than normal...
>
> Shrikant Madhav Vaidya, chairman, IOCL

According to IOCL Chairman Shrikant Madhav Vaidya, petrol demand has already breached the pre-Covid level, while diesel demand was just 0.5 per cent lower than normal during the month of October. "We expect the two transportation fuels to come back to pre-COVID-19 levels within a month," he told reporters.

However, aviation turbine fuel (ATF) demand continues to be just 48-50 per cent of normal since the commercial aviation sector is still not operating at full capacity. "Other than that, the situation is looking better," Vaidya said.

ASIANOMICS

TAIWAN

Q3 GDP REBOUNDS TO 2-YEAR HIGH

Taiwan's GDP grew 3.33 per cent during July-September quarter over last year, up from the second quarter's 0.58 per cent drop, which was also the deepest contraction in nearly 11 years. The Q3 growth rate was the fastest in over two years and comes after a steep contraction recorded earlier this year. Exports for electronics and telecommunications products both rose more than 20 per cent yearly in the quarter. Taiwan also rolled out a stimulus package worth $36.73 billion to reduce the impact of lockdown, while the recent uptick in global electronics demand has also helped it shake off the drag from the Covid-19 pandemic. The government attributed the growth to much better-than-expected exports in Q3, citing strong global demand for the island's electronics driven by new technologies such as 5G and by people who have been forced to work from home globally.

JAPAN

FACTORY OUTPUT RISES FOR FOURTH MONTH

Japan's industrial output surged 4 per cent in September from the previous month, led by in car and production machinery manufacturing. This is the fourth straight month that factory output has risen in the world's third-largest economy, though overall growth in Q2 was the worst postwar contraction ever witnessed. Further, manufacturers surveyed by the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry expect output to rise 4.5 per cent in October and 1.2 per cent in November. However, output of capital goods, an indicator of the health of capital spending, rose just 2.6 per cent from the previous month, following a steep 4.5 per cent fall in August. Meanwhile, separate data showed the September jobless rate held steady, while the number of available jobs per applicant fell to the lowest level since late 2013.

HONG KONG

RECESSION SHOWS SIGNS OF SLOWING

Hong Kong's economy shrank 3.4 per cent in Q3 over last year-its fifth straight quarterly contraction, but better than the 9 per cent decline witnessed during Q2. On a seasonally adjusted quarter-on-quarter basis, GDP increased 3 per cent over Q2. The global financial hub's economy was already hit by often violent anti-government protests last year and the US-China trade war, but the long recession showed signs of easing in Q3, aided by improving demand from an improving Chinese economy, easing of infections and stronger financial market activity. According to the government, global demand and trade flows would further improve if the recovery of major advanced economies continues, and economic activities should keep recovering this year if local Covid-19 infections stabilise.

Centre mulling long-term bonds to finance infra expenditure

JAYANTA ROY CHOWDHURY
@ New Delhi

THE Centre is mulling ways of raising money through the issuance of long-term infrastructure bonds in order to fund its ambitious ₹111 lakh crore infrastructure project pipeline.

Finance ministry officials say that it is estimated that some 31 per cent of the money for the raft of infrastructure projects over six years will have to be raised through debt raised via the bond market.

"We are looking at various ways of raising money, and helping funds and firms, especially the NIIF and NHAI, raise the funds needed for the projects they are interested in," said a senior finance ministry official.

Among the ideas under consideration is the creation of instruments in which foreign pension and insurance firms who prefer long-term steady investments could park their money. India already has Rupee-denominated Masala bonds and variants of these could be issued.

The government intends to pump more capital into NIIF, which manages assets worth $4.3 billion across three funds, and is looking for more tie-ups to increase the fund-of-fund's kitty.

"We have to go beyond the domestic capital market since it has limitations," said an official. Over the past three years, debt and equity raised through the capital market has averaged about ₹9-9.5 lakh crore a year, according to officials, and more than ₹20 lakh crore is needed annually to fund India's ambitious infrastructure project pipeline.

They also pointed out that infrastructure spending will be a cornerstone of the post-Covid recovery planned by the finance ministry. The bulk of the projects, approximately 70 per cent by value, are in the crucial Energy, Roads, Railways and Urban sectors.

To fund this pipeline, the Centre not only plans to tap the bond market but also aggressively go in for stake sales, and the monetisation of infrastructure assets.

REGULATORY DIKTAT

Axis Bank, Max Life rejig share purchase deal

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AXIS Bank on Friday agreed to revise its agreement to purchase up to 19.002 per cent in Max Life Insurance along with its subsidiaries-Axis Capital Limited and Axis Securities-after the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) refused to consider its proposal to pick up a 17 per cent stake directly in the life insurer. The banking regulator has also advised Axis Bank to restructure the deal and Axis Bank's total stake in Max Life will remain within the limits stipulated under the applicable laws and regulations.

Under the revised agreements, Axis Bank will acquire up to 9.002 per cent of the equity share capital of Max Life, and, Axis Capital and Axis Securities will acquire up to 3 per cent of the share capital. In addition, Axis entities will have a right to acquire an additional stake of up to 7 per cent of the equity share capital of Max Life, in one or more tranches, in accordance with existing laws and regulations.

"Axis Bank and its subsidiaries—Axis Capital Ltd and Axis Securities Ltd (together Axis Entities)—have agreed to enter into revised agreements with Max Financial for acquisition of up to 19.002 per cent of the equity share capital of Max Life (revised agreements)," said a regulatory filing, which added that the revised agreements will supersede the previous agreements entered into between the parties. Axis Bank currently holds about 1 per cent stake in Max Life.

Finance Commission to submit report on Nov 9

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE 15th Finance Commission, headed by N.K Singh, has concluded its deliberations and will submit its final report on November 9 to the President of India. The report will set the new fiscal roadmap for Centre and the state finances over the next few years.

The FFC was constituted on November 27, 2017 after the introduction of the Goods and Services Tax (GST) and was suppose to recommend the fund-sharing formula between the Centre and states from 2020-21 to 2024-25. However, its term was extended by 11 months and it submitted an initial report just for 2020-21. The second report, which contains recommendations for 2021-22 to 2025-26 is crucial since it comes at a time when the Centre and states are both facing a massive crisis.

The report will factor in the unpaid GST compensation dues to States, revenue projections, and views on future compensation to be paid.

PANDEMIC IMPACT

Remittances to India to drop by 9%: World Bank

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

REMITTANCES into India this year are expected to decline by around nine per cent to $76 billion due to the economic impact of the ongoing pandemic, said the World Bank.

However, the multi-lateral agency said that the current estimate was an improvement over its earlier prediction made in April. Then, the World Bank had warned that remittances to India are likely to drop by about 23 per cent in 2020 to $64 billion from $83 billion in 2019.

The report added that India followed by China, Mexico, the Philippines, and Egypt will continue to be the top five countries in 2020 to receive foreign remittances.

The Indian diaspora consists of more than 17 million people living in different parts of the world, according to an estimate released by the United Nations, and around 55 per cent of these are situated in the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) region. The GCC constitutes 54 per cent of the total remittances to India.

The World Bank's Migration and Development Brief released on Friday also noted that this trend was global. Overall, the amount of money migrant workers send home is projected to decline 14 per cent by 2021 compared to 2019.

The World Bank report also said that the foremost factors driving the decline in remittances include weak economic growth and employment levels in migrant-hosting countries, weak oil prices, and the depreciation of currencies of remittance-source countries against the US dollar.

Tencent Games terminates PUBG Mobile service in India

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

ALMOST two months after India banned mobile gaming app PlayerUnknown's Battlegrounds (PUBG), its parent company Tencent Games on Friday said that it was terminating all services and access for PubG Mobile users in India in order to comply with the government order.

"Tencent Games will terminate all service and access for users in India to PUBG Mobile Nordic Map: Livik and PUBG Mobile Lite, together "PUBG Mobile" on October 30, 2020. The rights to publish PUBG Mobile in India will be returned to the owner of the PUBG intellectual property," said the PUBG Mobile India page on Facebook.

While the mobile version has now become inaccessible in India, the website would continue to function since it is operated by a South Korean firm.

The Indian Government had, on September 2, had banned 118 mobile apps with Chinese links, including PUBG Mobile, citing data privacy and national security concerns. India had previously banned over 100 other Chinese apps such as Tiktok and CamScanner in June when tension between the two nations had escalated post the deadly clash of troops in Ladakh.

"This move will safeguard the interests of crores of Indian mobile and internet users. This decision is a targeted move to ensure safety, security and sovereignty of Indian cyberspace," India's IT ministery had said in a circular.

Post the ban, PUBG Corporation, the unit of a South Korean company behind PUBG, had decided to no longer authorise the PUBG Mobile franchise in India to China-based Tencent in an effort to revive the app in the game's biggest global market-with around 40 million monthly active users.

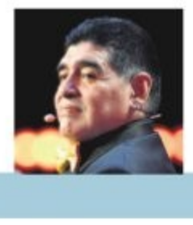
Right hand of god, Diego's birthday wish



Diego Maradona's wish for his 60th birthday is to score another goal against England. This time with his right hand! Maradona turned 60 on Friday. He deflected one into the net with his left hand before scoring arguably the best goal in history in the 1986 World Cup quarterfinal against England.

DC vs MI
Dubai @ 3.30 pm

CAN DC REDISCOVER MOJO?

Delhi can make it to the playoffs without winning one more game but that isn't ideal. From starting like a house on fire, they have now lost three on the bounce. A course correction is urgently needed if they are to pause the alarm bells.

MI SITTING PRETTY

This has been a serene season for the defending champions thus far. One more win means they will certainly get two chances at qualifying for the final. In a tournament where margin for error is little, that's a big advantage going into the last week of the tournament.

RCB vs SRH
Sharjah @ 7.30 pm

OLD HABITS NEED TO DIE

Virat Kohli & Co need to let go off this tendency to showcase their bad side — death overs largesse and impotent lower middle-order. Having lost two in two, the skipper can ill afford another loss so soon.

MUST-WIN FOR SRH

David Warner celebrated wickets like his life depended on them last time out. He will pretty much do the same as Hyderabad need the points if they are to stay alive.

INSIPID IMPORTS

Foreign players are supposed to be the assets of IPL teams. That's why they command higher prices. Not all, however, live up to that billing. This season was no exception...

PAT CUMMINS | KOLKATA@₹15.5CR
I 13, W 8, ER 7.81

Didn't live up to the expectations of a fast bowler who would make a big impact. Fluctuated between good, decent and bad. Went for runs at crucial junctures. Scored runs in a couple of games but by and large, failed in his primary duty of carrying the bowling. Most expensive foreign player ever, this Aussie would also think what could have been.

STEVE SMITH | RR@₹12 CR
I 12, R 276, SR 129.57

Three fifties and a strike rate of 129.57 is not a disaster. But when it comes to the captain, one of the best batsmen in the world and a player expected to make a difference, Smith doesn't qualify in the category of hits this season. Barring the odd knock or two, he was not the usually dominating and innovative batsman the world knows.

GLENN MAXWELL | KXIP@₹10.75 CR
I 10, R 102, SR 102, W 3, ER 8.04

To say that he did a handy job opening the bowling would be a feeble attempt to overlook how pathetic he was with the bat. Usually connects a few when he swings the willow around. This time, that didn't happen. To see him have a go and the miscued attempt going high into the sky before landing in someone's hands became a familiar sight.

ANDRE RUSSELL | KKR @ 8.5 CR
I 8, R 92, SR 131.42, W 9, ER 9.72

Form and fitness, let the team down on both counts. Some might say he didn't get enough deliveries to face. But he tried to blast every one of those, which reduced his chances of getting more. Cut a sorry figure with the ball as well, when he barely managed to jog up to the crease and bowled freebies.

DWAYNE BRAVO | CSK@₹6.4 CR
I 6, W 6, ER 8.57

Bowling figures slightly on the higher side may still be acceptable. Him breaking down at a crucial phase was not. It's possible that he wasn't fully fit. To make matters worse, he and/or the team management decided to carry on until it became impossible. Played two innings with the bat.

Parliament eye on Olympic prep

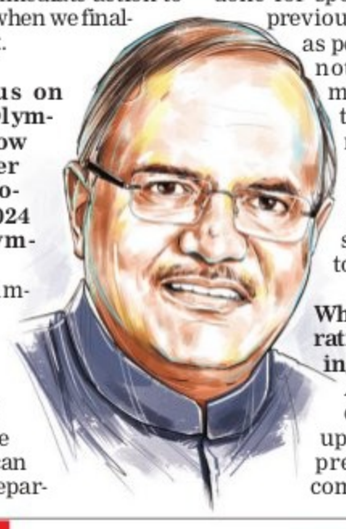
Committee chief Sahasrabuddhe says their job is to evaluate & recommend measures to fine-tune

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

JUST a few days ago, a Parliamentary standing committee on Human Resource Development called for a meeting with the sports ministry, Sports Authority of India and five national sports federations (NSFs). Officials were piqued and left wondering about its role and scope. Rajya Sabha MP Vinay Sahasrabuddhe, chairperson of the committee, explained the nuances of the panel and its immediate objective — evaluating preparations for the Tokyo Olympics. In an email interview, he said the panel's deliberations and eventual recommendations would aim at empowering all stakeholders. Excerpts

What will be the focus of the committee and its role?
The Parliamentary standing committee on HRD covers education, women and child development as well as sports and youth affairs ministries. Since we are just a few months away from Olympic Games, that are now slated for July-August 2021, we thought it fit to assess the preparedness of our sports establishments in general, and hence in our recently-held meeting we discussed this. Since the topic is enormous, we may continue to discuss this subject for one or two more meetings in the days to come.

How often will you have meetings? What will be the procedure to evaluate success?
As clarified, evaluating success is not on our agenda right now. Our agenda is limited to evaluating the preparedness in general and then give some recommendations for immediate action to the ministry when we finalise our report.



Will it focus on the Tokyo Olympics right now and 2024 later or will it focus on the 2024 & 2028 Olympics too?
What is of immediate attention is obviously Tokyo Olympics. Later, if the committee so desires, it can assess the preparedness for subsequent Olympic Games too.

How did the meeting with NSFs and sports ministry go?
It went very well. But we would be asking the federations to depose before us once again as we could not complete the discussion. Sports ministry officials also sounded confident. We also interacted with a couple of veteran sports journalists. My assessment is that during the last four years whatever has been done for sports is more than previous years. However, as per the rules, I cannot reveal or comment about what transpired in the meeting as it is confidential. One will have to wait till the submission of our report to Parliament.

What kind of preparations are you looking at?
As said, our agenda is limited only up to reviewing the preparedness in a comprehensive manner and then recommending measures to be taken to further fine-tune the same. After all, like every Indian, the panel is keen on our contingent to be coming out with flying colours and to ensure this, we are deliberating on the subject.

Will the panel work with sports ministry or will it work & evaluate athletes' performance independently?
Everything will have to be via the ministry. We are deliberating to help all — sportspersons, federations, SAI, Indian Olympic Association and of course ministry officials too. Our recommendations will be primarily aimed at empowering all of them to perform better.

The sports minister has been talking about top-10 finish by 2028. Do you think this is realistically possible if we don't win medals in swimming, athletics & gymnastics?
The sports minister is watching preparations more closely and also monitoring progress. We need not sit in the judgement of his opinion. We are open to seeking suggestions.

RR IN HUNT DESPITE GAYLE HEROICS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

IN a game Rajasthan Royals needed to win to keep qualification hopes alive, their batsmen delivered against Kings XI Punjab in Abu Dhabi on Friday. They chased down 185 in the 17.3 overs.

The win makes the top four battle intriguing. Rajasthan climbed to fifth spot and crucially, improved their net run rate from -0.50 to -0.38. At this moment, four teams are on 12 points with a game to go. The loss means KL Rahul and his team cannot qualify in the top two positions, but remain in the hunt for a place in the last four. Rajasthan will take on Kolkata Knight Riders in their last match, with Punjab facing CSK.

It was not supposed to be a straightforward chase, but the intent shown by all the batsmen suggested the team management had the NRR in mind. Ben Stokes hit 26-ball 50 while Sanju Samson (48 off 25) and Steve Smith (31 off 20) also impressed. Earlier, Chris Gayle (99 off 63) helped Punjab score 185/4.

Brief scores: KXIP 185/4 in 20 ovs (Gayle 99) lost to RR 186/3 in 17.3 ovs (Stokes 50).

Chris Gayle's 63-ball 99 included 8 sixes. He crossed 1k sixes in T20s.

The centre-back sustained ligament damage in his right knee on a reckless challenge by Everton goalkeeper Jordan Pickford during a 2-2 draw on October 17. The club said there's no timeframe for the 29-year-old's return. "After surgery, and it was successful, this time is always unpleasant," Liverpool manager Jurgen Klopp said.

Football in the time of pandemic

The seventh season of the Indian Super League will kick off on November 20 in Goa. Defending champs ATK Mohun Bagan will face Kerala Blasters in the opener. Here's a look at the early fixtures and talking points...

STAGGERED PRE-SEASON

Because of the pandemic and visa issues, foreign players and coaches arrived late. All of them had to be in hotel quarantine for 14 days. So pre-season plans of the teams got disrupted. Antonio Habas of ATK Mohun Bagan was the first coach to reach Goa. After quarantine and tests, most teams have started practising. Chennaiyin coach Csaba Laszlo and Odisha's Stuart Baxter are in isolation. Entire squad of Bengluru FC is under quarantine and will begin training from November first week. Full fledged training for all teams is expected to start in a few days.

With 11 clubs, this season will witness 115 matches. Last season saw 95 matches.

FIXTURES (FIRST 8 DAYS)

Nov 20: Kerala Blasters vs ATK Mohun Bagan. Nov 21: NorthEast United vs Mumbai City FC. Nov 22: FC Goa vs Bengaluru FC. Nov 23: Odisha FC vs Hyderabad FC. Nov 24: Jamshedpur FC vs Chennaiyin FC. Nov 25: FC Goa vs Mumbai City FC. Nov 26: Kerala Blasters FC vs NorthEast United. Nov 27: East Bengal vs ATK Mohun Bagan.

FIRST ISL DERBY

New entrants East Bengal will be up against rechristened arch rivals ATK Mohun Bagan in their first match on November 27. It will be the first Kolkata Derby of the ISL. Under Liverpool great Robbie Fowler who doesn't have a great record as manager, East Bengal face a huge test first up against the defending champs, coached by Habas who has won the ISL twice as coach.

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

All matches will be played behind closed doors under a bio-secure bubble in three venues in Goa — JL Nehru Stadium (Fatorda), GMC Stadium (Bambolim) and Tilak Maidan (Vasco). All 11 teams play each other in a double round-robin format. The top four qualify for the playoffs.

BIGGEST AFTER LOCKDOWN

This will be the biggest sports event in India after the lockdown. How this pans out might play a significant role in India's ambitions of holding more competitions in the near future.

Amit, Ashish win gold in France meet

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

THEY looked a little rusty, but in the end India men's team finished with three gold and one silver at the Alexis Vastine Memorial international boxing tournament in Nantes, France, on Friday. World No 1 boxer Amit Panghal cut through the defences of the Abraham Rene Perez of the US with ease to secure a comfortable gold in the final of the 52kg.

TV grab of Amit Panghal after the win

This is the first tournament for India men's team after the Covid-19 pandemic. The boxers went to France after shifting their training base to Asissi in Italy mid-October. In 75kg, Ashish Kumar managed to eke out a victory against Ramin Musah of England in a tight final bout for country's second gold. Heavyweight (91 kg) Sanjeet also impressed to clinch gold, beating Soheb Bouafia of the host country in the final.

However, in the 57kg weight category, Kavinder Singh Bisht lost to host's Samuel Kistohurry.

Earlier on Thursday, Shiva Thapa lost to local favourite Lounes Hamraoui. The four-time Asian champ who was the last to join the national camp in Patiala looked rusty. Though there were boxers from 10 countries, the entries were thin in some weight categories. But for all the team managements, getting match practice is a priority in days of pandemic when competitions are rare. The team will be flying back to Italy, where they will train for the next few weeks.

Five storytellers from India, Indonesia and Singapore are coming together to explore tales that look at the various emotions women undergo, through the lens of the navarasas

Simran Ahuja

Rona Mentari

Some months ago, Lavanya Prasad, Rona Mentari, Akila Krishna Kumar, Krupa Vinayagamoorthi and Priti Modyiyer started brainstorming about a storytelling event. While the women reside in different parts of the continent – Prasad is from Bengaluru, Mentari from Yogyakarta in Indonesia, and the other three from Singapore – they decided to take advantage of borders being blurred by the pandemic. Now, these five women are coming together to present Maiden Moods. The storytelling event aims to explore the various emotions women undergo, through the lens of the navarasas.

"Emotions are powerful in storytelling. The underlying emotions always bring out a synergy and energy to the story. And in some cultures, women aren't easily allowed to express their emotions. So most of our stories have strong female protagonists," explains Prasad, who is also the founder of Talescope Bangalore, a storytelling venture. The nine emotions – love (shringaara), laughter (haasya), compassion (karuna), anger (roudra), courage (veera), fear (bhayaanaka), disgust (bheebhatsya), wonder (adbhutha) and peace (shaantha) – were divided among the women, who then looked for stories that highlight that particular feeling. Prasad, who took up bheebhatsya and shaantha, says finding a story that highlights the former was a challenge. "It's one of the lesser explored emotions. Finding stories related to fear or wonder is much easier. But while searching for a story I realised that it is difficult to find only one emotion in a story since multiple co-exist. It is then a teller's strength to highlight one," she says, adding that she finally chose a story written in the 1960s by Tamil writer CS Lakshmi. For her other story, she chose one she has narrated before, about a devadasi who finds peace in her loyalty to God.

Kumar, who is the founder of Storyberries Oral Storytelling and Crafts in Singapore, will be sharing stories that highlight wonder and anger. "Our audience will be people from Singapore, which in itself is a multicultural place, besides India and Indonesia. So we are presenting stories from various cultures," she says, adding that her story will have elements from historical fiction and a doze of slice of life. Some of the tellers will also add elements from their culture to the story. Prasad will use her training as a Bharatnatyam dancer to incorporate gestures, facial expressions and mudras in her stories. Mentari, who is an Indonesian storytelling activist, will focus on a folk tale that highlights compassion or karuna. "I love to bring cultural elements in my performances, so the story itself is an authentic Indonesian folk tale. Besides that, there will be an Indonesian song as well, I always bring my ukulele when I perform," she says.

Maiden Moods will be streamed on Nov. 1 and 8, 5pm onwards on Zoom. Tickets available on Instamojo.

BCG vaccine effectiveness against COVID-19

RajaRajeswari Medical College and Hospital is conducting the study in Bengaluru.
As COVID -19 has affected lives across world, many initiatives have been undertaken to prevent its impact on the humanity. RajaRajeswari Medical College and Hospital in Bengaluru is conducting a trial to study the effectiveness of BCG, the anti-tuberculosis vaccine, in proving its effect against COVID -19.
As a part of the trial which have been approved by Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR), an estimated 150 voluntary participants who are elderly citizens in the age group of 60 to 80 years, free from COVID -19 will be administered with a booster dose of BCG vaccine.
"Over the next nine months, the administered participants will be monitored for the presence of antibodies in their blood and how they respond in the context of COVID -19 ", Principal of RRMCH. Dr. S. Naveen told in a Press Release.
The trial is conducted by Dr. Praveen Kumar, Medical Superintendent, RRMCH along with Dr. Vidya G. S, Associate Professor, Dept. Community Medicine and Dr. Vivek G, Assistant Professor, Dept. Pulmonary Medicine.
BCG vaccine is a part of our universal immunization schedule with proven safety profile over many decades. Apart from preventing Tuberculosis, this also prevents many respiratory illnesses. This is the idea behind giving a " booster dose " of the same vaccine amongst elderly population since they are at high risk of developing COVID -19 and its related complications.
It is truly commendable that Raja Rajeswari Medical College and Hospital is one of the few centres chosen by ICMR for BCG vaccine trial.

WHEN WORDS ARE WORTH IT

Pallavi Srivastava
Editor, City Express
spallavi@newindianexpress.com

Bots are chatting, little kids are coding, and as if the world wasn't getting stranger fast enough every day, the pandemic has now made even familiar faces seem unrecognisable, and literally so. We have been going paper-free and AI-friendly. We are shunning typing and embracing typos. Reading is out, swiping is in.

Or is it?

Among all the other realisations that the Covid-19 pandemic has rolled out for us over the past few months is the renewed appreciation that the world needs artistic pursuit as much, if not more than, scientific advancement. As scientists across the world undertake frantic research for ways to tackle the virus outbreak, each of us has turned to some form of creativity to burst that bubble of loneliness, despair and the fear of the unknown. Whether it's OTT platforms, live-streaming on social media, or webinars, we have all plugged in devices to binge-watch our favourite artistes' performances, adjusted our earphones to hear every word spoken by an author about the book we refuse to lend anyone, or just created extensive playlists to last the long hours of cooking and cleaning. We turned to painting, singing, writing. We realised, once more, why we need art in life.

The Express Poetry Contest organised by Bengaluru City Express is yet another attempt, after the hugely successful short story and photography contests held by us this summer, to bring the readers a wee bit closer to themselves. Not all of us are perhaps born gifted poets. Many of us may even find it difficult to comprehend poetry. I, for one, still remember clearly the perplexity felt during each school exam when I read in the question paper: "What does the poet mean by these lines?" But we also know well that whenever something touches us deep within, stirs the soul, brings a smile, or a tear, we call it poetry.

'I am out with lanterns, looking for myself...'

Shinie Antony
Co-founder, Bangalore Literature Festival and director, Bengaluru Poetry Festival

BY INVITATION

Your poem is out there somewhere and the attempt to locate it – to read it or to write it – is a lifelong spiritual act. Even as you stoically go about life, saying the right thing, doing the right thing, you are aware of the subterranean rebellions and the brutal honesty that you sidestep daily. But one day, you know, you will stop to take a deep breath. And find that the sky above your head and the ground beneath your feet are in iambic pentameter.

From the alliteration in Robert Browning's The Pied Piper of Hamelin, with its Great rats, small rats, lean rats, brawny rats / Brown rats, black rats, grey rats, tawny rats... to Sylvia Plath's I shut my eyes and all the world drops dead / I lift my lids and all is born again in her Mad Girl's Love Song, lines that also perhaps describe the pandemonium we find ourselves in, the path of poetry is filled with goose bumps.

A good poem is echo and ache. An echo of what is, what goes on, turning words into clear glass. The ache is more subtle, accessing as it does almost a memory, a faint stirring in our blood and bones of dirge and ditties heard long ago, backlighting what is intolerable, unfair, not in harmony with humanity. Hope convulses our darker moments; since we knew how it once was, it will soon be so again.

Our lane, city, state, country, planet – everything is a jumbled address in the middle of nowhere right now. Do we know the way in? Do we know the way out? When everything is a blur, when all you can see is the mist on your windowpane, poetry turns into an exact science. It provides a prescient knowing; the future is a lyric.

Words are damsels in distress, words are knights in shining armour. Words are dragons with fire on their breath, words are happy endings. The medicinal properties of cathartic writing, the wide arc of an observant eye and ear, the careful circus of this word after that in a way only the soul knows forward... No bliss equivalent to that perfection when emotions approximate the best lingual articulation they can.

Earth now spins on a new axis, nothing is what it was, where it was. The pandemic mocks borders, territorial vanity, childish claims of my land, your land. Home was a tricky concept to begin with...

And while all of communication struggles with the alphabets of a future language, poetry quietly finds a way. Unsung, set to an inner music, words huddle in the middle of a page; arrangements of meaning and nuance, for no rhyme or reason, hard truths wrenched from human hearts.

Let's reclaim our land with language, surrender to the shocking magic of a poem.
'Remember, gods, when you prayed to me?
Hush, I said, good gods don't pray.
With every telling, your story changes...
Truth is, you don't recall creating me.
I am down on my knees, waiting for Amazon to deliver a new god.'

RUBINATIONS
RUBI CHAKRAVARTI

THE HEART OF THE MATTER

Good morning, my tribe.

Some of you may be wondering why my former greeting has suddenly taken a backseat. Well, I too, needed be 'in' with the new-fangled and more soulful connotations that are being flouted in the vocabulary market. Actually some of these 'terms' impress me. I've often wondered why I couldn't come up with them myself, especially since they often emit from people who can't grammatically connect two sentences when they are speaking to you in person! I was rather pleasantly surprised at the outpouring of verbal affection that I received on my birthday! Nowadays, since there is a paucity of ideas on how to celebrate, I am told that a 'birthday week', or even a 'birthday month' of celebration is kosher. The eloquent messages, the outpouring of love, affection and respect actually made my heart go 'awww'! Really! A far cry from the days when my then boyfriend (and now husband) sent me a pink elephant-embossed card which read: 'What's a birthday more or less, when you wear yours which such finesse'! Being very young and foolish, I clutched it to my ample bosom and went 'aww'! Silly me... I should have realised that cards with pre-written mush was all I was going to get from now on.

Since beggars can't be choosers, I started closely scrutinising the written word on my cards and messages. It was hard to write any old mush when Google and Pinterest weren't readily available at your fingertips. (If you talk to a millennium about the dial-up internet days, they look at you with so much pity!) Life, at that time, demanded that the grey and white matter in the cerebrum were used in equal measure! This was a weird twilight zone type of birthday. It was an 'all dressed up but no place to go' type of feeling. Though I was inundated with wine, flowers, cakes and food, and my home overflowed with gifts and messages, a certain 'je ne sais quoi' was missing. I was a happy trooper, but still there was a heaviness that I couldn't just shake off.

I mentally went through my checklist. Children had called at midnight and family early in the morning... check. My husband gave his usual gobble-de-gook excuses for no presents, kissed my cheek, and his stubble seared my skin... check. Then why this uneasy feeling? I racked my brain. Sure, I missed the presence of my kids and would have liked to have a close group of friends over for champagne and dinner, but these were strange times and it's better to be safe than sorry. Then what made me cantankerous and uneasy? Then like a lightning bolt, it struck me. I was tired and sleepy. It is very sweet when your kids phone or come over with a cake at the stroke of midnight. But putting away the gooey chocolate cake and cleaning up the mess is always the birthday girl's (moi) responsibility! Why-oh-why do extended family and close friends start calling to wish you from 6am onwards? On hearing a groggy 'hello' from my side, they always ask with mock concern, 'Were you asleep?' For sure I was... people usually are at that time!

Crib as I might, I had a wonderful day and week. Good friend and executive chef Vikas Seth of Lounge Hospitality made sure he plied me with amazing food on two consecutive days. Sanchez is one of the most popular Mexican restaurants in town. So in keeping with the adage... let the mountain (of food) come to the customer. He has started a cloud kitchen, Mad Mex, where delicious Mexican food comes packed and delivered in biodegradable corn-husk boxes. Needless to say, it was an orgy of tortillas, burritos, melted cheese and jalapenos. The next day. it was N.W Frontier food from his Indian kitchen, Garam-Masala!

Need I say more... Mexican and Indian, bhai-bhai!

How to keep happy hours happy

KARTHIK KUMAR

Drinking in bars requires a code of conduct to keep inebriation in balance with hospitality. While people gather in different ways to enjoy, remember to get drunk with fun and don't ruin others' experience. When things go out of hand, a bartender steps in to make peace sometimes.

If you go to a bar, brewery, cocktail bar, hotel bar or even a food focused bar, always check with waiters or bartenders about their special happenings that particular day. There is always something happening with drinking experiences that bars cater too. For example, sometimes they have special menus, day drinking cocktails like low Alcohol By Volume, freshest brews, etc. At the most, whoever is serving you at the bar will have recommendations you can trust.

Keep in mind

1. Know what you and your friends are drinking for the day, this will help you get quick service. It also grabs the attention of a busy bartender, who already has six to eight drinks on his mind to make.
2. Please do not ask the bartender to secure your belongings, most of the bars have a hook below the bar counter for this.
3. Do not ask for cocktails to be spiked. Bartenders tailor drinks as per the management rules. If you are looking for a spirit forward drink with your flavour profile, let the bartender know.

Omega-3 rich foods improve post-heart attack prognosis: Study

Regularly consuming foods rich in omega-3 fatty acids, from both animal and vegetable origins, strengthens the heart's membranes and helps improve the prognosis in case of a myocardial infarction, say researchers. For the study, published in the Journal of the American College of Cardiology, the team at Hospital del Mar Medical Research Institute (IMIM), Spain, used data from 950 patients. "The article highlights the complementary effects of the two types of omega-3," said study author Aleix Sala from IMIM. The omega-3 levels in the blood of these individuals were determined when they were admitted to hospital to be treated for the heart attack. - IANS

High-fat keto diets can prevent, reverse heart failure: Study

Heart problems? A special diet might help as researchers have found that the popular and controversial ketogenic diet could completely prevent, or even reverse heart failure caused by a metabolic process. For the findings, published in the journal Nature Metabolism, the research team looked at a metabolic process that seems to be turned down in failing human hearts. "In an animal model, drastic heart failure in mice was bypassed by switching to high fat or 'ketogenic' diets, which could completely prevent, or even reverse the heart failure," said study author Kyle S McCommis from the Saint Louis University in the US. "Thus, these studies suggest that consumption of higher fat and lower carbohydrate diets may be a nutritional therapeutic intervention to treat heart failure," McCommis added. - IANS

BHEEMASENA NALAMAHARAJA

Director: Karthik Saragur
Cast: Aravinnd Iyer, Aarohi Narayan, Priyanka Thimmesh, Achyuth Kumar
Producers: Pushkar Mallikarjunaiah, Rakshit Shetty, Hemanth M Rao
Out on: Amazon Prime

RATING 3/5

A lovingly cooked dish

• A Sharadhaa

A chance encounter over perfectly-cooked biryani between caretaker Sarah Mary (Priyanka Thimmesh) and chef Lathessha (Aravinnd Iyer) makes the opening of Bheemasena Nalamaharaja, the latest offering from director Karthik Saragur, which has been released on Amazon Prime Video today.

The story revolves around the central themes of family and food, beautifully validating the expression 'a family that eats together, stays together'. The characters here are fresh ingredients to a popular recipe which involves family, relationships and food.

Sarah meets Lathessha at the Nadi Moola Resort where she drools over biryani cooked by him and a simple 'thank you' to the chef leads to a conversation in which Lathessha recounts his life journey, narrating several brutal truths which have brought him to the present day. Lathessha is an orphan and while growing up, he becomes best friends with Kenda (Vijay Chendoor). Becoming a chef was always a passion, he says, and he talks of how he first met Vedavalli (Aarohi Narayan), an extrovert and a very stubborn girl. Enamoured by her charms, Lathessha changes his name to Bheemasena Nalamaharaja and leaves the resort where he works to live in the city. He runs a mobile canteen to make ends meet and ends up marrying her against the wishes of her strict father (Achyuth Kumar), an Iyengar bakery owner. The couple is eventually blessed with a daughter.

Now you might think Latheesha's life is going great and you wouldn't be wrong, except that one horrible night turns his life upside down. Faced with unpredictable challenges, he must rely on his love for his wife, his family, and his cooking talents to extricate himself from the mess he is in. Will this work for him? You have to wait for the unexpected climax to find out.

The story is narrated by Sarah, who highlights the twists and turns this cook's life takes. Bheemasena Nalamaharaja is a simple story written by Suni and Karthik that reminds you of a well-made dish, perfect for the palate. It has all the basic rasas and is equal parts sweet, sour and bitter, with just a hint of spice. Each character has been created with finesse and the performances reflect this too. Aravinnd has practically lived his character of the chef. Arohi Narayan as Vedavalli and Priyanka Thimmesh as Sarah balance out Aravinnd's character and Achyuth Kumar delivers a versatile performance. Vijay Chendoor, known for his usual comedy outings, has been cast in a slightly different role this time around. A special mention also goes to child artistes, Chitrali and Aadya.

However, like any popular dish, this one too has a few shortcomings — it is slow-paced and some sequences are unnecessary. If they are cut out from the final product, the result would be a perfectly balanced dish. One thing you must not miss Bheemasena Nalamaharaja for though is the absolute delight that is the background score, composed by Charan Raj. The cinematography manages some beautifully shot scenes throughout the film.matography manages some beautifully shot scenes throughout the film.

Jessica Chastain, Anne Hathaway team up for Mothers' Instinct

• CE Features

Hollywood stars Jessica Chastain and Anne Hathaway will co-star in the psychological thriller, Mothers' Instinct.

The actors play best friends and neighbours, who live an idyllic traditional lifestyle with successful husbands and sons of the same age. Set in the 1960s, the story goes on to narrate how their harmony is shattered by a tragic accident, and how they explore a sisterly bond.

Olivier Masset-Depasse will direct the English remake of his 2018 Belgian-French film, Duelles. The film is based on the novel Derriere la Haine by Barbara Abel. Sarah Conradt will adapt the script for the screen. Apart from starring, Chastain also produces the project.

"It takes actors of Jessica and Anne's caliber to communicate the intricacy of these two roles," Masset-Depasse said, adding: "The relationship between a mother and child is the most powerful connection between two human beings. When this bond is severed, it calls into question conventional morality and even sanity. In the behind-closed-doors atmosphere of 1960's America, 'Mothers' Instinct' becomes a terrifying, high-pressure powder keg."

Rage and revenge reign supreme in Bejoy Nambiar's adequate thriller

• Shilajit Mitra

Film-watching can be a blandly passive affair, so any measure of choice is welcome. This week, ZEE5 subscribers can take their pick: they can watch (like I did) all six episodes of Bejoy Nambiar's Taish, a pacy, hyperviolent revenge thriller set in London. Or they can catch Taish the feature film, a pacier, hyperviolent revenge thriller set in London. This will largely depend on personal preference and time constraint, though I suggest you settle in with the series. This way, any lingering doubt about the thriller's full potential will be put to rest.

Rohan Kalra (Jim Sarbh) drives down from London for his brother's countryside wedding. The celebrations perk up when his best friend, Sunny (Pulkit Samrat), joins the party. Sunny is easily incensed: we learn this when he tries to dance shirtless with a girl and drags her intervening boyfriend into the pool. Later, at a pub, his hair-trigger temper is put to test. Rohan reveals that he was sexually abused as a child; the offender, Southall gangster Kuljinder Brar (Abhimanyu Singh), is a guest at the bash. Learning this, Sunny follows Kuljinder into the restroom and beats him bloody.

Unfolding in parallel is the story of Kuljinder's brother Pali (Harshvardhan Rane). Over non-linear fragments (a Bejoy hallmark), we learn that Kuljinder had married Jahaan (Sanjeeda Sheikh), whom Pali loves. With his loyalties now questioned — he's suspected of attacking his brother at the pub — Pali sets out for revenge. It soon spirals out of control, as a circle of retribution consumes multiple lives.

Taish, before anything else, is the work of its director. Bejoy's films are known for their frantic construction and obsessive themes. His characters — pensive, brooding — flip out more frequently than in any other filmmaker's work. What is presented here is not so much a departure as a careful balancing of style and substance. The brawls and bike chases are offset by a willingness to interrogate the nature of violence. Anger, the driving element in much hypermasculine cinema, is treated with a frankness bordering on the uncool. This is by no means the anti-Kabir Singh (the show glorifies what it has to), but it indicates a director willing to check his impulses.

TAISH SERIES

Director: Bejoy Nambiar
Cast: Jim Sarbh, Pulkit Samrat, Kriti Kharbanda, Harshvardhan Rane
Out on: ZEE5

RATING 3/5

Some proof of this can be found in the early episodes. With the series format at their disposal, Bejoy and editor Priyank Prem Kumar bring out the small dysfunctions plaguing both families. At the wedding, Rohan drops his dancing partner when his Pakistani girlfriend Afra (Kriti Kharbanda) turns up unannounced. Later, he takes her side when his father insults her over dinner. Pali is similarly enraged, his hate and emasculation stemming from the odd fact that Jaahan was Kuljinder's sister-in-law when he married her.

The tangled narrative is held in place by a sturdy ensemble. Jim Sirbh is pleasantly atypical as the sole voice of reason ("If only blaming was as hard as forgiving," he cautions Sunny in a scene). Pulkit, while playing to type, extracts moments of intensity previously unseen in his work. Harshvardhan's showy brood would have been disastrous if not for the lush supporting work by Sanjeeda. There's also a variety of accents and ethnicities: "There's nothing else to discuss," says a Sardar character in a Brit accent before ending it with, "Sat Sri Akaal."

From Park Chan-wook's famed trilogy to The Last of Us Part II, pop culture is full of odes to the futility of vengeance. Bejoy's latest closes on a similar note, a message likely to be lost in all the flash and boom. It's the curse of action cinema that it claims to reject violence — yet is helplessly in thrall of it.
